BRIBES OFFERED BY CHINESE GAMBLERS

Obregon Wins Tampico Fight

GAMBLERS RETREAT TO SAN LEANDRO

Driver out of El Cerrito, the Chinese gambplers have fled to San Leandro and are establishing resorts for the conduct of their games at the eastern edge of the latter city. Incensed at their invasion, city authorities of San Leandro are lanning a strong protest to the county authorities.

Moreover, according to Mayor A E. Pelton of San Leandro, the alien gamblers and their agents have attempted pribery not only of him but of other local officials in an effort to secure protection for their games

"I have been offered $500 a month to close my eyes to their games," Mayor Pelton said today. "One of the township officers, to my knowledge, was offered $400 a month for protection."

Mayor Pelton declared he believed the Chinese had "come to San Leandro because their chief legal representative was a local attorny from whom they had been led to expect assistance in dodging the law."

WILL ASK COUNTY TO ABATE ALL GAMBLING.

San Leandro's fight to rid itself of the Chinese and their followers will come to a head Monday night when the city council meets. An earnest plea to the county authorities to abate the lotteries and gambling joints is being framed for adoption at that meeting.

While the plant of the gamblers so far is less elaborate than the quarters they enjoyed at El Cerrito, San Leandro authorities are assured that plans for its extension are in hand. Negotiations are reported for property in addition to what the gamblers now occupy.

Some of the best organized Chinese lottery interests of the Eastbay are said to have been behind the El Cerrito gambling joints. They are also believed to be identified with the resorts established and projected at San Leandro.

EL CERRITO JOINTS CLOSED BY TINNING.

The El Cerrito joints were closed after a long and prosperous career by District Attorney A. B. Tinning of Contra Costa county and his associates. Several raids were conducted, and a number of arrests were made before it was finally possible to stamp out the illicit games. These had been patronized, according to the authorities, by as many as a thousand men and boys a day. Complaints from numerous women whose homes had been devastated by the men's losses in the lotteries had reached the district attorney's office before the gaming was halted.

The Chinese have removed their establishments to just the other border of the interurban area. They are at the end of the six-cent fare limit at the edge of San Leandro, the south end of the area, whereas before they were at the northern six-cent fare limit at the county line.

ESTABLISHED OUTSIDE SAN LEANDRO LIMITS.

"We shall certainly make every possible effort to stamp them out." Mayor Pelton declared today. "Because of the fact that they have established themselves without the limits of San Leandro, the municipal corporation cannot act directly in the premises, but we believe the representations we make to the county officials will avail. The gamblers were astute enough to open their places outside of the city limits.

"The reason they came to San Leandro at all is quite obvious to me, since I have learned that their chief counsel is a San Leandro attorney. They suposed he would be acquainted with home-town conditions and would be at hand in case they needed immediate assistance.

WESTINGHOUSE TO ADD TO BIG PLANT

New Construction Announced for Emeryville by West Coast Manager.

C E. Heise, San Francisco district manager of the Westinghouse Electric company, announced today that a contract has been awarded to the Dinwiddie Construction company of San Francisco for the construction of a second large building unit on the 12 vacant lots owned by the Westinghouse company in Emeryville. This plant when completed, will cost $500,000, and will give employment to a large number of people.

The new building will provide accommodations for a large assembling shop, extensive service and repair shop, a zone warehouse, and various other facilities designed to render Westinghouse products and service more accessible and efficient to customers in the West

Bernard H Prack, consulting architect, of Pittsburg, Penn., with offices in Oakland, is the architect for the new plant. He also designed the Westinghouse insulator and other structures in Emeryville.

REPAIR SHOPS IN NEW ADDITION.

In the main section of the building will be located the company's service and repair shops, in which all kinds of electrical machinery will be repaired and switchboards and switch panels manufactured The east wing of the building will be devoted to the assembling of various electrical apparatus, required by the western trade, such as special motors and control equipment. The three-story west wing will provide necessary space for a zone warehouse intended to serve the entire west coast.

The shops will be equipped with the most modern machinery known to the electrical industry, and the tools will be electrically driven throughout by individual motor drive. The lighting of the building has been designed by Westinghouse engineers to meet the best standards.

MANAGERS ACTIVE IN NEW BUSINESS.

These developments have been brought to the coast largely through the efforts of Heise and other managers of western offices of the Westinghouse company. Heise is a native Californian, educated in the University of California, a prominent clubman in San Francisco, and a veteran with the Westinghouse organization, having served in various capacities for more than 25 years, leading up to his present position.

MEXICO CITY Jan 5, via Laredo—General Francisco Serrano, secretary of war, declared in an interview today that the government would terminate the revolution within two months There have been no important military actions the last few days, he said, on account of the government's desire to concentrate its forces at both the Jalisco and Vera Cruz fronts, to repair the railways and to get everything in readiness for decisive, simultaneous battles

The Jalisco rebels are the best organized and the most dangerous, according to Serrano, who stated that they number between four and five thousand. The Vera Cruz revolters will not survive a single decisive blow, he declared.

WASHINGTON, Jan 5.—The commanders of Fort Sam Houston and Fort Bliss have been ordered to begin delivery immediately to designated Mexican agents of 5000 Enfield rifles and 5,000,000 rounds of ammunition. Similar orders have gone to the army air service depot at Fairfield, Ohio, for delivery of eight surplus DH-4 airplanes, which are to be shipped to the border under arrangements to be made by the Mexican government.

Secretary Weeks, in announcing completion of arrangements for the sale to the Obregon government on a payment basis of 50 per cent cash and the remainder in 30 days, said the surplus war materials involved did "not cover the entire list requested originally," but that the Mexican authorities had found they would meet "present requirements."

The Enfield rifles were turned out after the United States entered the war to supplement the supply of Springfield rifles and since have been recalled from service and stored as surplus.

The ammunition also will come from surplus stocks manufactured during the war. So far as known there has been no important deterioration in it.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Six prominent negroes have been selected by Secretary of Labor Davis to constitute an official government commission to investigate economic conditions in the Virgin Islands.

It is believed to be the first time in the history of the United States that an all-negro government commission has been sent to one of the American possessions. The delegation will consist of Robert Church, of Memphis, as chairman; Cornelius Richardson, of Richmond, Ind., as vice-chairman; George H. Woodson of Des Moines, secretary; Jefferson H. Coague, of Delaware; Professor Charles E. Mitchell of the Institute of West Virginia, and W. H. C. Brown, an investment banker of Norfolk and Newport News.

The commission will make an extensive survey of conditions in the islands, which are said to be deplorable. Actual starvation is said to be threatening some of the natives, because of the virtual demolition of the bay rum industry, its chief occupation, by American prohibition. The people of the islands are negroes, or of negro extraction.

"BIG GAME" FLIER GETS JAIL TERM

BERKELEY, Jan 5.—That the law which makes it a misdemeanor for aviators to fly at a "dangerously low" altitude over the heads of an assembled crowd is constitutional, was the ruling this morning of Judge Robert Edgar in sentencing Dewey Ward, Oakland aviator, to a sentence of 30 days in the county jail and a fine of $100

Ward was arrested for flying over the University of California stadium on November 27 during the progress of the "big game" His arrest is the first of its kind in the state. Stanley Stearne, attorney for Ward presented lengthy briefs declaring that the state law covering such an offense was "ambiguous" and not "specific" enough in its provisions.

"There's nothing wrong with the state law," commented Judge Edgar this morning in pronouncing sentence, "but there is something wrong with a man who jeopardizes the lives of people by flying over their heads in a dangerous manner."

Stearne immediately filed notice of appeal. Ward, who resides at 3121 East Seventeenth street, is out on bail He is a coffee roaster by occupation and on the day of the big game was accompanied by a photographer who took pictures of the football contest for commercial purposes Army officers and others testified as to the dangerous character of Ward's flying.

In sentencing Ward, Judge Edgar gave him the maximum fine of $100 under the law The maximum jail sentence is six months

CARTER NOW SICKENING AT TUT'S TOMB

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph at Luxor, Egypt, forwarded the following despatch:

"Following Howard Carter's magnificent discovery of the contents of the second and successive shrines in the Tut-Ankh-Amen tomb there has come a sudden slump. Carter has been working under the highest tension lately, and the culmination of his brightest hopes has been followed by a reaction.

"As he walked through the Valley of Kings yesterday afternoon in the blazing sunlight wearing a heavy overcoat, his face was drawn with the heavy strain of the last few days. The correspondent has excellent reason to believe that his relations with the Egyptian government are getting more intolerable all the time which, coupled with the ever-increasing responsibility of the tomb, is affecting his constitution, which has not been robust for some years

"Nevertheless, he is continuing his work which for the next few days must be robbed of its glamor.

"Carter believes he will be able to reach the point where it will be possible to raise the lid of the sarcophagus a fortnight hence when further and more dramatic discoveries are certain.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—King George today sent a telegram to Howard Carter at Luxor, Egypt, asking him to not remove the mummy of Tut-Ankh-Amen from its sarcophagus, but to restore it to its ancient resting place after an X-ray examination. It is understood Carter agreed to do so.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LUXOR, Egypt, Jan. 5. — The modern X-ray may be the first to tell the secret of the thirty-century-old tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in the valley of kings, it was learned today.

Howard Carter, in charge of the Egyptologists, believes that the mummy is within the sarcophagus discovered yesterday, but the X-ray likely will be employed to make sure before the lid is removed.

The lid of the sarcophagus will not be disturbed until the remains of the shrines about the granite coffin are dismantled.

Carter hopes to be able to open the sarcophagus about January 15.

Carter's health has begun to show signs of the strain he has been under.

LUXOR, Egypt, Jan. 5—For the present at least and probably for some time to come, it will be impossible to get a comprehensive view of the gigantic granite sarcophagus of Pharaoh, Tut-Ankh-Amen, surrounded as it is by the nest of shrines.

There is abundant evidence to show that it fully bears out the surmise of the archaeologists that the sarcophagus of Tut-Ankh-Amen the Magnificent would in every wise be worthy of the great era of art in which that pharaoh reigned The coffin of Harmahib, his successor, which now lies in the depths of Harmahib's ruined tomb not 400 yards from the resting place of Tut-Ankh-Amen, is also of pinkish stone and is of a purity of design and delicacy of workmanship that represent the great sculpture of Egypt at its best, notably the protective Goddesses at the four corners, covering with outspread wings, as it were, the body of the dead king.

It is considered probable that the excavators will arrange for a view of the sarcophagus in its shrines for the official world within the next day or so.

As Carter is sanguine of being able to radiograph the contents of the coffin through the stone, there is some speculation as to whether, now that the sarcophagus has been found, and he may not alter his previously announced decision not to employ Roetgen rays on the tomb this season

NORMAND INVOLVED IN BOOZE PROBE

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Investigation of the source of the whisky and gin alleged to have been consumed at the party that Mabel Normand, Edna Purviance and Courtland S. Dines, wealthy Denver sportsman and man-about-town, staged in Dines' apartment on New Year's day and which ended when Dines was shot and seriously wounded by Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Miss Normand, was launched today when prohibition officers sought evidences of violation of the "dry" laws. Captain of Detectives George Home, in charge of the police investigation, was asked to supply the prohibition agents with the facts concerning the discovery of whisky and gin in Dines' apartment and the condition of Dines and the two actresses when they were interrogated after Dines was shot.

The liquor investigation, it was stated, was to determine whether or not Dines was legally entitled to have the liquors in his apartment and if any provision of the prohibition law was violated when he served drinks to Miss Normand and Miss Purviance.

Captain Home was also asked to confirm or deny reports that the two actresses showed unmistakable signs of heavy drinking when they were taken to central police station after the shooting and that their excited condition made it necessary for the detectives to postpone taking their statements of what happened until the next day when they had sufficiently "recovered."

The entrance of the prohibition officers into the case came at a time when the police were about to officially close their investigation of the shooting, Assistant Captain of Detectives Herman Cline having announced that the evidence was complete

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Three persons smarted today under what they termed the injustice of a situation created by the shooting here last Tuesday night of Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator and clubman.

They were Mabel Normand, motion picture actress; Horace A. Greer, her chauffeur, who fired the shots, and Dines, who was hit by two bullets.

Miss Normand, recuperating from an operation for chronic appendicitis, awaited at the Good Samaritan hospital the effect of an appeal she addressed to the American public to "withhold their judgment of me until all the facts are known."

"I feel that I am particularly unfortunate in reaping most of the publicity in this terrible tragedy," she declared, * * * "and it is unjust of the censors or any one else to condemn me before they have heard my story.

"I was packing my Christm.

Through the Microscope

Someone has called the department store advertising in the old files of the daily papers "the mirror of forgotten fashions." Even so the classified advertising of an earlier date is the microscope of, it would scarcely be tactful to say, Ancient History.

Caution in the choice of words is suggested by advertising in the "lost" columns of The TRIBUNE to recover feather boas and chatteline bags. And by the way, we note a great change in the fashions in dogs.

Though there were undoubtedly Airedales and Boston Bulls in those days, losses were confined to the more popular English Setters and Cocker Spaniels. No dinosaurs listed, but one coach dog. An equally extinct species. Did they die off? or were they all run over by the new fangled horseless carriage? or did some one paint out the big black spots and sell them as thoroughbred bird dogs? Does any reader know whether or not the breed is entirely extinct?

tree trimmings in my home on New Year's day when Edna Purviance, my friend, called me up and invited me to the apartment of Courtland Dines. I went to his apartment and was there but 45 minutes when my chauffeur entered and began shooting. Nobody was more shocked than I at the sound of the shots. I could not conceive for the moment what had happened.

"There was nothing in any way wrong at the apartment. There was nothing like a party, which seems to be the impression. We were just three friends, having a quiet little visit with each other, as any other three might do.

ASKS FOR JUSTICE AND FAIR PLAY.

"But because this man I had every reason to believe was just an ordinary chauffeur went out of his head I have to pay the penalty. I appeal to the sense of justice and fair play of the American people. All I ask is the chance to show that I am innocent of any wrongdoing.

"The law presumes everybody innocent until proven guilty. Why should I not have the benefit of the same presumption?"

Greer, whom police described as "a self-constituted hero who shot in outraged dignity" when Miss Normand failed to take seriously his efforts to "rescue" her from Dines' apartment New Year's night, occupied a cell in the county jail after his arraignment yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and clung to his original declaration that a noble desire to protect the screen actress, coupled with an equally laudable desire to save his own life, constituted his sole motive for pulling the trigger of Miss Normand's automatic pistol and sending a bullet through Dines' lung.

As for Dines, the injustice of the situation as it affected him was self-evident from his complaint: "I don't know why in the world that fool shot me—unless he was full of hop."

AFFAIR IS CLOSED BOOK TO POLICE.

What Edna Purviance, the other motion picture actress, thought about the course events have taken since the New Year's night affray was not revealed, she having remained silent since her recent statement admitting that she and Dines were "engaged, and yet not engaged, if you understand what I mean."

To the police, however, the New Year's shooting affray was a closed book and a task finished.

"The case of the shooting of Courtland S. Dines is officially closed," said Assistant Captain of Detectives Herman Cline, who directed police investigation of the alleged attack on Dines.

"The man charged with the shooting is under arrest," Cline pointed out. "He has admitted he did the shooting. Complete statements have been taken from all parties concerned. The physical condition of the victim of Greer's attack is improving slowly and he apparently is out of danger. A warrant charging Greer with assault to kill has been issued and filed; the prisoner has been arraigned on the charge and January 11 set as the date for his preliminary hearing. He has been transferred to the county jail—and there is nothing more for the police to do."

Meanwhile interest in the situation growing out of the shooting shifted to the probable effect—or lack of it—which Miss Normand's appeal to the public might have on movements under way in various states to bar films in which she is featured.

What effect her statement might have on the asserted "hero complex" of Greer was also a matter of interested conjecture. Of Greer, Miss Normand said last night:

"I cannot conceive why my chauffeur should have taken the revolver. I cannot conceive why he should have [illegible] to enter my bedroom and take it. No one ever asked him to do it. Because he fired those shots it seems that every [illegible] in the country wants to ban my pictures. Because this man whom I had every reason to believe was just an ordinary chauffeur—because this man, I say, went out of his head, I have to pay the penalty."

Victor Detwiler, tenor, and Jack Hillman, baritone, both of San Francisco, received an ovation from local radio fans today in the form of letters, postcards and telephone calls following their appearance last night at Radio KLX, The TRIBUNE'S broadcasting station.

The local listeners-in expressed their gratitude not only to Detwiler and Hillman, but also to the others who took part in the program, including Miss Grace Marie Compagno, organist, composer and pianist, who accompanied Detwiler, and Walter Wenzel, who accompanied Hillman. Others on the program included Patricia and Susan Long and Irving Krick, talented young Eastbay pianist.

In the course of his program last night Jack Hillman paid homage to two composers by singing their compositions. Both composers were listening in on the program, one at Los Angeles and another at Seattle. Abby Gerrish Jones, composer of "My Dear Little Irish Rose," was listening in at Seattle, and Gertrude Ross, who composed "Round-up Lullaby," a cowboy's night song to the cattle, was listening at Los Angeles.

Many requests by phone, asking for various songs, were received. Detwiler was able only to repeat one number for which there were several requests; Hillman was unable to depart from his program, due to the lengthy part he undertook in the entertainment.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR KELS IN LODI HOME

Body of Haystack Slayer Is Buried in Plot Next to Victim's Grave.

LODI, Jan. 5.—Funeral services were held this morning for Alex A. Kels, hanged murderer, at his home here.

Only members of his family were present. His body was buried in St. Joachim's cemetery beside that of Ed. Meservey, the man he killed.

Mrs. Kels' condition was reported by local newspapers as much improved today and she was able to hear the funeral prayers.

Exactly an hour after Prison Surgeon J. Dale Rogers faced the fifty odd persons who had witnessed the execution of the Lodi butcher and uttered the word "deceased," an undertaker's conveyance was leaving the prison grounds to return Kels' mortal remains to this city.

William Kels, a brother of the murderer, arrived at the prison a few minutes before the execution took place. He had traveled to the institution in the undertaker's automobile, but refused to go inside the prison reservation as that vehicle passed through the steel portals. Instead, he remained seated in a little store outside the walls until the execution had been completed and the body turned over to the morticians.

Mrs. Kels slept yesterday afternoon with the aid of opiates while the body of her husband was moved from Folsom to Lodi.

Laverne Kels, 9, a daughter, came to a fuller realization of the execution and loss of her father last night and joined other members of the family in their sorrow.

T. L. Bawden, who is a non-resident owner of a half interest in an undertaking establishment here which arranged the funeral, is the man who recognized Kels in Reno, Nevada, after he was thought dead and buried.

A representative of the Midwest Life Insurance company announced here today that his concern was prepared to pay $4000 to Mrs. Kels today under the terms of a policy carried by her late husband.

POLICE OFFICERS MUST NOT BREAK LAWS, IS EDICT

A record of three policemen discharged, resigned or suspended within the six days of the new year, was hung up by last night by Commissioner Frank Colbourn, threatening to break the 1922 record when 68 policemen left the force. In 1923 about 30 left. Many of them left with clean records, but Colbourn admits that many did not.

"I'm not seeking to heckle or discharge men off the police force," says Colbourn. "But we have to have law-abiding officers. Policemen cannot enforce laws if they, themselves, break those laws.

"The honest and law-abiding men on the force, the great majority of the force, are and should be backed up in their employment; but those who are not honest or law-abiding should be weeded out. I admit there are several cases where I have not been able to act summarily because I did not have complete evidence; but insofar as I am able, I shall endeavor to dismiss any policeman who breaks the law, and especially the prohibition law.

"I believe that law-enforcement officers do not favor some of our laws. I believe this is the case throughout the land. Now, this is a debatable matter, and every man is entitled to his opinion; but no enforcement officer, sworn to uphold the law has any option except to enforce the law. He may not agree with the law, but it is the law. He cannot temporize. I cannot temporize.

"I hope the new year will see fewer cases of policemen temporizing with the law."

Non-Business Autos Must Pay Flat Tax of $3

State Motor Vehicle Department Announces No Extra Levy on Cars.

A flat tax of $3 is all that will be assessed directly against non-commercial automobiles, with the exception of electric vehicles, under the Breed Motor Vehicle law, it was announced today by officials of the state motor vehicle department.

Through an error the tax schedule printed yesterday by The TRIBUNE indicated that further assessments were to be made upon non-commercial cars. This was incorrect, since the additional assessments apply only to commercial vehicles.

In addition to this tax, a levy of $10 will be made upon non-commercial electric vehicles, while electric vehicles used for commercial purposes will be required to pay the $3 plus a $50 tax.

Gas-driven commercial automobiles will pay the $3 basic tax, plus a further assessment depending upon their weight and also upon whether they possess pneumatic or solid tires.

Commercial cars with solid tires will pay these additional assessments as follows: Those under 3000 pounds in weight, $10; from 3000 to 6000 pounds, $20; 6000 to 10,000, $30; over 10,000 pounds, $40.

Commercial cars with pneumatic tires will, for each of these weights, pay half of the tax imposed upon those with solid tires.

In addition to these, a further tax will continue to be collected indirectly from all motorists through the two-cent tax on each gallon of gasoline.

BORAH FAVORS TAX REDUCTION; OPPOSES BONUS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. — Declaring himself in favor of tax reduction and opposed to the soldier bonus, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, in an address today before the National Republican Club of New York, said this issue could not be avoided or sidestepped.

"One is either for tax reduction or he is against it," he said. "One has a right to be for the bonus or he has aright to be for tax reduction. But he cannot be for both.

BURDEN CAN'T BE SHIFTED.

"You cannot take off a temporary burden of $140,000,000 or $150,000,000 and lay on a permanent burden or obligation of $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 and call it tax reduction. It would be a dangerous political experiment. It would defeat any party that would undertake it."

Borah quoted figures indicating the rate of increase of taxes in the last eight or ten years, declaring they "represented the most searching tragedy of American life." In eastern industrial centers the situation was serious enough, he asserted, but in the agricultural regions of the west, "they are losing faith in the government" because of unbearable taxes and "the mad saturnalia of spending," in which the speaker declared the government continued to indulge.

TAX BURDEN MOUNTS.

"But in the great agricultural areas," he said, "where, in the last analysis, must be found the source of national wealth and contentment—the place from which we are fed—there is going on a patient, dogged struggle for the preservation of homes and farms such as no man can appreciate who has not witnessed it. Men and women who have tamed the desert, suffered and sacrificed, denied themselves, and under the most adverse circumstances opened up farms, now with fifty years of struggle behind them, stand in mortal dread of the coming tax collector with his ever-increasing call. They have seen their tax burden mount three hundred and five hundred per cent in the brief space of a few years, and while reflecting over what has happened, they are even more anxious about what may happen.

"What do such tax burdens mean? They mean imperilled and forfeited homes, they mean dissatisfied and discontented domestic life, they mean less educational advantages for the coming citizen, they mean separated and demoralized families; they mean energy thwarted and enterprise sterilized, and last of all, they mean thriftlessness and improvidence and a moral breakdown of a great and proud citizenship."

NAVY BUILDING TO BE STOPPED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—After an active career of fifteen years, the naval construction office at the Union plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation here is being abandoned in accordance with instructions from Secretary of the Navy Denby to the Twelfth Naval district, ordering a complete cessation of all naval shipbuilding operations on the Pacific coast.

Resumption of shipbuilding activities cannot be expected, it was announced at Twelfth Naval district headquarters, unless Congress authorizes the additional construction recommended by the navy department in whole or in part.

The navy department has recommended a small building rogram to Congress that would keep well within the spirit of the limitation of armaments agreement, but navy men declare that, even with the addition of these vessels, the navy will be far below the strength contemplated in the treaty. However, it was said that the construction program, if allowed, would renew activities in shipbuilding in which the Pacific coast might share.

Meanwhile, Commander E. F. Hamner of the naval construction corps, in charge of building operations at the Union plant, is preparing to close his office. Equipment will be moved to the Twelfth Naval district headquarters.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC
Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter
Charleston, S. C. — "I was completely run-down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough."— Mrs. ANNIE YOUNG, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S.C.
The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nationwide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it.
Because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is reason why it should help you.

A Bee and a Sting

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

By the way Mr. Parfinkle drew maps upon the tablecloth with his butter knife one could tell his mind was far away from the world of fried eggs and toast.

"Jane," he called to the prim cook who was also waitress and housekeeper in his establishment, "did it ever strike you one cannot succeed in any undertaking unless he puts his best foot forward?"

Jane sniffed. "It strikes me often, if you please, that you have no idea how hard it is on a tablecloth marking it up like that."

"Jane," persisted Parfinkle, "in what do you excel?"

"Besides cooking, and waiting on table, and sort of looking after the house, I am best in spelling. In my day I have won two gilt cards all frosted with ground glass, one dictionary, and a certificate of excellency."

Parfinkle smiled: "I confess I suspected it. Luther Twiggs admires scholarship, I'm told." Parfinkle arose and departed, leaving Jane staring in astonishment.

"Now what could he mean? And how does he know? Sometimes I think he's crazy as a loon and sometimes I know he's crazy as a fox. He's up to something, he is."

It took Parfinkle just a week to arouse interest in the village in an old-fashioned spelling bee. Without pretending to be the instigator, he dropped a word here and there and rejoiced when those words took root. The bee was announced and Mr. Parfinkle, because of his reputation for learning was made judge.

"Don't bother me, Jane," he ordered. "I am making a list of the words which I will propound to the contestants. The one who spells them all will win a prize. He or she will be given high honor and deserve the admiration of her fellows." When he was through Parfinkle left the list on his table and retired. In the morning when he picked the papers up he smiled.

"Jane wouldn't cheat in anything except love," he decided. "[illegible] has been copying [illegible]."

The [illegible] of [illegible] attracted. The whole village turned out and there was [illegible] comment [illegible] and failures [illegible] everyone by [illegible] with accuracy. [illegible] were none but [illegible] Twiggs [illegible].

It was [illegible] that Jane was [illegible] wondering [illegible] Luther [illegible].

[illegible] Parfinkle giving [illegible].

[illegible] and Twiggs [illegible] to win. Spelled [illegible].

[illegible] a speech [illegible] contestants, and [illegible] he believed [illegible] but [illegible] Jane to miss. He [illegible] giving a prize to each [illegible] upon them as if bestowing a blessing.

"If you'll take Jane home," Parfinkle [illegible] to Luther, "I'll [illegible] with Doc Adams."

So [illegible] Minden put [illegible] two together when Luther [illegible] announced them [illegible] and accused Parfinkle of [illegible].

"I told you [illegible] to put your best foot forward," he said to her when she [illegible] and if spelling is [illegible] that was the one [illegible] to catch Luther. And [illegible] here, Jane," he added, "unless [illegible] you are bossing him [illegible] I won't say a word about you having a copy of [illegible]."

Mr. Parfinkle [illegible] embarrassed [illegible] Jane. "You're a [illegible] old [illegible] that's what you are, though it ain't any place to [illegible]."

"Matchmaker!" Mr. Parfinkle looked up into a cloud of smoke and addressed himself. "Maybe that's what [illegible] all it. But I stand [illegible] to get rid of that girl. I never [illegible] such a good cook in all [illegible]."

The Love Gyp

Chapter 42.

THE PSYCHOPATH

Jake saw Marjorie step from behind a curtain just as he felt the strong fingers of Napoleon Knott fasten on his throat and the universe began to reel about him.

Knott shook him until his jaws rattled. Then he threw him to the floor, lifted him up again and slammed him into a chair with a lusty wallop to his jaw.

"Stay there, you rat," he growled.

The fat man turned and held out a supporting arm to Marjorie, who was staggering weakly. He had paid for his stupidity by quick action at the last moment.

By putting several items together—items such as knockout drops, Jake's presence at the foot of the stairs, Mrs. Hyde's statement that Marjorie was in her room ill—by putting all these things together Knott had deduced why the fake Colonel was so anxious to sneak away to the rear of the house. Therefore the minute the opportunity offered he had hurried to her room, admitted himself with one of the skeleton keys he always carried, revived Marjorie with the whisky which almost had seated Jake away, and then had hidden behind the curtain. When Jake started away, Knott had substituted his own corpulent form for that of Marjorie and had covered himself over to prevent detection.

The criminologist ceased glaring at Jake, to smile at Marjorie.

"Now you believe me," he insisted tenderly. "You must believe me now. This dog drugged you. Then he sneaked up to your room with what motive you can well imagine."

Marjorie made a wry mouth. The chloral had stupified her and the stimulant had failed to clear all the cobwebs out of her brain. She looked down at the drooping bon vivant that slumped in the chair, eyes staring at Knott in mortal fear. The Colonel's collar was torn away, his marcelled hair was mussed and his perfect complexion was a thing of departed beauty.

Napoleon Knott no longer felt uncouth by comparison as he caught Marjorie around the waist and held her protectingly. Gradually the deadly anger departed, color returned to the cheeks that had been pasty pale and his heavy face broke into a smile that marked the return of [illegible] throne.

"Oh, you and this loafer have caused Papa Knott some sleepless nights," he charged. "But it's over now. You see he's a fake, don't you?"

Marjorie's [illegible] Jake's face for [illegible]. If he would but deny this, if he showed that it had all been a terrible blunder, if he would only raise his eyes and meet hers squarely, it might remove some of the horror of the situation.

But Jake groveled like a whipped dog. He had tasted the [illegible] the hands of Napoleon Knott. When the cherubic countenance was turned toward him, he [illegible]. He sensed the pleading in Marjorie's look but he could not answer it. Merely he hung his head.

Marjorie buried her head in Knott's capacious shoulder and sobbed. The fat man soothed her with soft words and pats, [illegible] he glowered at the unfortunate car washer.

"Let's get this thing over," urged Knott, presently. "We will turn the kid over to the police and put you back to bed."

Marjorie pulled away abruptly.

"Max—to the police?" she cried. "Oh, you must not do that."

Knott shook his head inexorably.

"I can't consent to free a scoundrel who goes around drugging young girls," he said, firmly. "He must go to jail."

Marjorie [illegible] the criminologist reproachfully.

"Think of [illegible] for me," she said. "Everyone knows of our engagement. Think how it will hurt my father! I can see the papers: 'FIANCE OF MINISTER'S DAUGHTER JAILED.' Then people will say mean things about my father looking after his own family first before he tries to save other souls. Oh it would be terrible. Terrible! You can't do it. You must set him free."

Jake straightened up and watched the [illegible] closely. Upon the [illegible] depended his fate. He hoped that Marjorie would win, but he read stubbornness in every line of Napoleon Knott's face.

"Would you free him so that he might prey on other helpless girls?" queried Knott softly. "Think of that. This fellow is a psychopathic [illegible]. We should have special training schools where such as he [illegible] and [illegible] restraint. But, [illegible] restraint and [illegible]."

[illegible]

[illegible] "I don't know."

[illegible]

[illegible] where he can fight no one." Napoleon Knott smiled.

"[illegible] mean to Africa for [illegible] rather hard on the [illegible] skinned [illegible]."

"I am not joking," she retorted [illegible].

"A long [illegible] would cost a lot [illegible]."

[illegible] gave a [illegible] and swung Marjorie around by her hands. "[illegible]," he exclaimed. "This [illegible] a [illegible] reward. He will [illegible] on the condition that he leaves the United States and does [illegible] for five years. In other words he must go into exile."

Knott turned to Jake.

"What do you say to that?" he asked.

Jake jumped up [illegible] in his eyes.

"I'll do it," he cried. "I'll do it."

CRY of Geraldine's SHOULDER

SITUATION REQUIRES WORK AND INTELLECT

A Problem Involving More Than Morality Confronts Reformer

If the so-called "fallen" woman were entirely a moral problem I would agree with the writer of the following letter. But she isn't—she is an ECONOMIC problem and money is going to work her cure as much as sympathy and understanding.

I am not talking now of the girl who has met temptation and has been unable to resist it, for she, if she has character and poise, is GOING TO MAKE GOOD IN SPITE OF HER FALL. But the woman who knows no other life than that of a woman of the streets is going to need a financial boost that the world won't recognize as yet. She is usually a woman lacking enough mentality to learn a "trade." She is probably from a home where money was scarce. She must eat and if the wages paid for her unskilled services are not enough to live on, she is forced into another life.

But the "good" world looks at her and says that her MORALS are bad, never realizing that a flat pocketbook was probably the original cause. We talk of reforms, but we offer no real wage earning jobs. Yet the unskilled worker has to eat.

Dear Miss Geraldine:

I am at a loss to know how to write to you on a very important matter, namely, the attitude of the general public toward the poor fallen women and girls. As a rule I seldom take (though notice of the daily papers to see how the world is jogging along, but since I have been in Oakland I have been a steady reader of The TRIBUNE and have read your columns with interest. At the same time I have not taken much notice of the letters you have received from the lovelorn lads and lassies but I have been reading some of your own letters of advice to those in trouble. I have noticed one or two cases where you have given good, kind advice to the poor Mary Magdalenas who have, through no fault of their own, fallen a prey to the blandishments and smooth talk of some of their friends called men.

I am sure there is many a woman and girl who has good cause to thank God and you for the day that she wrote to you and poured out her troubles to you, for I am sure that if they took your advice, they are now on the right path.

Now I do not want you to think that I am some man angel. No, far from it, but I do want to say this. There is too much blame put on the girls' shoulders today. I am a man who has lived and traveled all over this world and I have seen both sides of life. The slums of New York, St. Louis, Chicago; White Chapel, London, Montmartre, Paris; the red light districts of all the famous cities of the world, and I say this: Eighty-five per cent of the women and girls in the underworld would not have been there of their own free will or if the men they loved had thought of their own sisters and mothers.

Also if their parents had taken more care of their daughters' welfare. If a few of the mothers would act the part of Geraldine and let their girls come to them and weep on their shoulders why then we would have fewer fallen women and [illegible] wrecking of homes.

One thing I do know, no matter what part of the world [illegible] the woman or girl has to pay, pay, pay, but I pray to God [illegible] your cheerful words of advice will save many a poor Mary Magdalene wayward girl or discontented wife from going on the wrong path. Why should the women pay? A man can break every law in the land, commit any crime and PERHAPS he goes to prison. If he does, he never serves his time but is released to return to his friends and receive a great home coming and fatted calf is killed for his benefit.

But not so the poor girl who makes the mistake through her great love and devotion for the man. The man leaves the poor girl to trouble and boasts of it to his friends and perhaps recounts the different conquests he has made with girls and then they think he is a perfect Adonis or an Apollo, but what of the poor girl? Well she doesn't count. She is pointed out on the street as a red woman. They all look askance at her and tell you she should be run out of town, that she is vile and a leper and a menace to society. Oh yes society demands her head on a charger, but the man? Well he is a hero, and the very ones who should take the part of the girl and woman and help her, are the ones that shun her most and would send her headlong down to hades—her own sex. Man has laughed at his work.

Geraldine, I am not trying to write a letter or a story as I [illegible] write but what I say in this poor letter of mine, is from my heart and from experience and I admire you for the stand that you have taken for the poor fallen girls, especially those who have gone wrong before they married. When they have found a good, honorable man to love them and they have with your cheerful words of advice told the man, I do not doubt for one minute but what they make good wives.

Well I think I have said enough. I could tell you a lot, but I know that your space is limited. I will say in conclusion, God bless you for your [illegible] and words to poor [illegible] and girls. I wouldn't have [illegible] any one who would have been kind to my wife, or, if I had a sister I would have thanked any Geraldine to have helped her on her way [illegible].

I beg to remain,
A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
(Name and address given.)

That's a letter from a [illegible] man who would fight to the end for what he thought was right. As such, I honor him, but do not necessarily agree.

The world of today isn't pointing a finger of scorn at the little girl who has strayed from the straight and narrow. There are organizations everywhere trying to help her. There is work being done to [illegible] the child born out of wedlock, for why should an innocent baby have to pay for the lack of self control of its "parents"?

And the fight, my friend, against the districts where vice flourishes, is a fight of self protection carried on by mothers who wish to save their sons and daughters from some of the resultant horrors. The trouble is that it isn't an INTELLIGENT fight. Closing a section of [illegible] scatters vice; it does not eliminate it. Throwing any man or woman out of employment—no matter to what line—is making life harder. Unemployment is not a sign of prosperity, and if you take away a man or woman's livelihood, he must have something to take its place.

The professional reformer says "throw the woman of the streets out of town," but that solves no one's problem.

GIVE ANY NORMAL MAN OR WOMAN A CHANCE TO IMPROVE HIS STATUS, HIS INCOME, HIS LIFE, AND HE'LL TAKE IT. Give the so-called "fallen" woman some way of earning a respectable livelihood, and don't worry, she'll take it.

We don't want sobs; we want WORK and intelligence to eliminate vice.

And my friend did you ever see the men turned loose from prison after serving their terms? Prison suits you could spot blocks away and maybe $5 in their pockets. The fatted calf has been sold to the butcher and the ex-con searches for work to again make his own way in the world. That's the difference between romance—and life.

(As to the part eliminated from your letter I want you to know that I'm glad for the happiness you found. It was the way you won it that has given you pity and love for unfortunates. It is a wonderful feeling.)

About Avoiding the Appearance of Evil In Word and Action

JOB FOR EFFICIENCY LIBRARY BOARD.

If anyone asks I can answer the following letter for we got another goes [illegible]. It is up to an efficient library board and not a heart-throb editor.

Dear Geraldine:

I have been reading your column in The TRIBUNE every night and seem to learn a lot from it. Now I would like to get your advice about the librarian at our branch library. She is a young girl who has a young man who comes down every night to the library and goes and sits on the desk and acts silly with her. Now if my girl friend and I whisper very low about our school work, she will nearly kick us out of the library. Some cannot get their books checked. They have to wait until she gets ready.

Now has she any business to talk to him and not let us talk? I'd like to know if you think this is fair. I am very anxious to hear what you say about this case. With love.
FRENCHIE.

I've got too much to do to fight my own battles, Sweetheart, to go out hunting for a row. If you and other library patrons have a "kick," tell it to the library board and you'll probably receive prompt improvement in service.

FATHERS AND MEDDLERS ON ALL PLANES OF LIFE.

In all walks of life there are tattlers and meddlers, and some school children are the busiest of all.

Dear Jerry:

Well, once again I'm turning to you for your precious advice. Jerry, the advice which you will give me in answer to this letter will be more precious than anything on the face of this good and cruel world.

I am a girl of 16 and expect to graduate from grammar school this term. (Pretty slow). When a girl is that age, people down her whether she tries to be decent or not. At least it seems that way to me and Jerry, I am asking you why.

I have many boy friends—at least I thought I did have once—but from what I've been hearing they are not my friends at all. Jerry, when I was 13 and 14, I was very foolishly boy struck, as all or most girls are at that age. As I said, I was very foolish. I went to the shows, flirted with some boy I had never seen before, let him put his arm around me, even let him kiss me. At least I thought it was a kiss, but it was lowering my reputation, wasn't it? I'd even tell mother and father I was going over to a girl's house, but instead I'd be going out to meet my cigarette smoker, Jerry. I'm telling you something not even my mother or father knows. Somehow I couldn't tell them what I've told you. Maybe because I think they wouldn't understand. I have as good a mother and father as any girl would want. I understand everything as they make it plain to me.

I don't care at all for dances and I don't care much any more for parties. I have told you nearly everything about myself. Now I will tell you what some and most of the boys think of me. This evening a boy friend of mine told me he had been talking to a boy I had gone to the show with a couple of times, and this boy said I would go with any boy that had money and that I associated with a low class of boys. Jerry, I do speak to a low class of boys, and some of these boys that think they are better, think I am low because I do. I don't want them to think that I speak to boys that speak to me and sometimes I don't because I am afraid they will think I want to hang around. I've never done anything I really shouldn't. The boy that has been telling me these things, won't tell me who told him. One boy said I was too cheap to go to the show by myself. I had to go with him.

I'm just beginning to see where I have done wrong for about three years. There is so much more to say to you, but will stop for a while until I learn more. What shall I do?

Gratefully yours,
IN WRONG.

"Avoid the APPEARANCE of evil" is a greater thing than I could possibly say and it seems to be the only answer to a little girl who didn't use her head.

If you don't want to be classed as a rowdy—keep away from 'em, and if you don't want to be thought cheap—don't give yourself. You can place your own valuation on yourself and you will be taken at that value.

Maybe that doesn't sound helpful, but it is very true. You are worth exactly what you make of yourself, and you can't lie and cheat and waste your energies on soundness and not have it show.

Somebody Had to Be Guilty

There once was a supreme court justice in New York City who was locally noted for his severity. If he could prevent it, no guilty man escaped and in his court very few of them did.

A man was on trial before him for forgery. The prosecution, so it seemed to most of the spectators, had failed to make out a very good case; nevertheless, the jury came in with a verdict against the accused. Later, the foreman of the jury was talking about the case with a friend who had heard some of the testimony.

"We weren't certain that we ought to convict, either," said the foreman, in explanation; "but after listening to his honor's charge, we realized that if we let that fellow go we'd all be guilty of contempt of court."

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pape

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma sed to him, Willyum, here's a letter from my sister Fanny.

I suppose it's all about that wonderfill baby Herbit of hers, pop sed.

Well, most of it is, ma sed. Fanny rites that they are giving up the ideer of making a moving picture actor out of him and they're thinking of making a real estate man of him insted. Fanny says he seems to be naturally gifted for that perfession, ma sed.

Why? pop sed. On account of allways having so much dert on his hands and face, I suppose, ne sed.

Certeny not, ma sed. Little Herbit is a very clean baby, and in fact he's so much inclined that way that Fanny says he allways starts to cry wen they stop washing him insted of wen they start, like most babies do, altho of corse, as Fanny says, that may be because it's so hard for him to cry until he gets the soap out of his little mouth. But the reason why they think he is a natural born real estate man is because wenever he gets hold of eny kind of a peece of property he hangs on to it till he makes a profit. For instants the other nite, Fanny says in this letter, her husband had a man calling on bizness, and little Herbit got a hold of his watch and pertended to throw it out of the window, but without axually doing it, of course, and nuthing they could say could persuade the man that his watch wasen't in eny danger, espeshilly wen Herbit started to put it in his mouth and make faces as if he was swallowing it, and in fact Fanny says wen he started to do that she began to get a little alarmed herself, more on account of Herbit than because of the watch, and so finally she gave Herbit 2 cookies to keep the watch out of his mouth and the man gave him a dime to give it back to him and then Fanny gave him another dime to keep the ferst dime out of his mouth, so altogether she and her husbind figure out that Herbit made more than 100 per cent out of the transaction and her husbind says that would be a fair days werk even for a good real estate man.

Wich he did.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Mildred Marshall

ENID.

Perhaps the sole example of a name which maintains its original beauty and dignity and is without derivations or diminutives, is Enid, signifying soul. The first and immortal Enid was made so by Tennyson, who rescued from oblivion the charming idyll of Geraint and Enid and placed them among the chivalry of the Round Table. This history was found in the "Maturgeon" and a "Triad" mentioned Enid as one of the three ladies of King Arthur's court. She is as beautiful as a picture of wifely devotion as the patient Grisell.

The name Enid is a Celtic form of animus, meaning soul. It is not difficult to perceive how the successive changes came about, through differing pronunciations. Enid was probably a connecting link in the transition and for euphony, the word became Enid. All this must remain suppositious, however, as there is no accurate history concerning the name, so she is accepted as a poetic fact and as such her vogue long since established in England, France and America.

She appears as Enid in the French verse of Christien de Troyes, but she is better known as the wife of the Prince of Devon of romance, whom Tennyson describes in his "Enid and Elaine":

"The brave Geraint, a knight of Arthur's court,
A tributary prince of Devon, one
Of that great order of the Table Round,
Had married Enid, Yniol's only child,
And loved her, as he loved the light of heaven.
And as the light of heaven varies, now
At sunrise, now at sunset, now by night
With moon and trembling stars, so loved Geraint
To make her beauty vary day by day,
In crimsons and in purples and in gems.
And Enid, but to please her husband's eye,
Who had first found had loved her in a state
Of broken fortunes, daily fronted him
In some fresh splendor; and the Queen herself,
Grateful to Prince Geraint for the service done
Loved her, and often with her own white hands
Arrayed and decked her, as the loveliest,
Next after her own self, in all the court.

Enid's jewel is the beryl which has the power to reawaken love in married people. It likewise makes the wearer amiable and unconquerable. To dream of it signifies happiness in store. Monday is said to be Enid's lucky day and three her mystic number.

Revelations of a Wife

WHAT MADGE DID TO END CONTROVERSY WITH MOTHER GRAHAM

I never have admired Katherine Bickett more than when Mother Graham icily put her malevolent little query:

"Has Dr. Braithwaite been consulted about this—arrangement?"

The effort to answer nonchalantly, utterly ignoring the undercurrent of malice which both Katherine and I recognized, but which, to do my mother-in-law justice, was really a subconscious thing born of her anger, must have been a severe strain upon the professional composure with which my little friend is able to mask her real feelings. But there was only casual courtesy in her answer.

"Naturally not," she said, "as I believe it has been but a few minutes since Madge wired him, asking him to operate."

"Has it not occurred to either of you," Mother Graham queried, her dignified rancor visibly increasing, "that so eminent a surgeon as Dr. Braithwaite may wish to have a word to say concerning the selection of a nurse to work with him? Unless, indeed——"

I saw that she was rapidly working herself up into a tantrum, in which she might say things which could never be recalled, and which in a calmer mood she would indignantly declare never had left her lips. This idiosyncrasy of hers is one which Dicky has inherited with flourishes. It is a peculiarly trying one, for neither Dicky nor his mother, after recovering a lost temper, has the slightest idea of having said anything which possibly could cause offense to any one.

"Edwin probably will have several words to say," I interrupted lightly, "and most of them, I should think, would express thankfulness that his patient was to have a nurse of her own choosing and in whom she has every confidence. I have heard him say that was half the battle. Come, Katherine"—with an imperative little gesture—"I'm sorry to hurry you, but we simply mustn't wait another second. Remember it's afternoon now and Mrs. Ticer will have to hustle to get those uniforms dry today."

I swept Katherine out of the room, knowing, but not caring that my shrewd mother-in-law could read my ruse plainly. Experienced housewife that she was she knew that there was no possible chance of getting the stiff heavy uniforms dry before dark, but she sent no comment after us. I fervently hoped that some sense of decent courtesy had stilled her tongue, although I knew better than to bank upon any such good luck.

"Go on out and get into the car," I whispered when we had reached the hall. "I'll come with the uniforms right away."

Katherine nodded. I guessed from her compressed lips and steely eyes that speech was beyond her for the moment, and her slender figure was vibrant with anger, as she snatched her motor coat and a small hat from the hall closet and hurried out of the door.

I paused only to put on my own coat and hat and get the bundle of uniforms before following her, but even with my hand upon the door, a plaintive little voice arrested me.

"Mamma, I want to go, too. Pleese, Mama."

My small son stood behind me, his little body wriggling with eagerness. I remembered what his grandmother had said about a cold—but a glance out of the window showed me the sun shining brightly, and my belief in the efficacy of fresh air gave me courage to wrap him snugly in his warmest outdoor wraps and take him with me. For additional precaution, however, I took along an extra motor rug, and Katherine sprang from her seat to help me when I finally reached the car.

"Hurry!" I whispered frantically as she took the blanket and laundry bundle from me, and I lifted Junior into the car. "If Mother Graham sees this child——"

I turned my switch key, pressed the starting pedal, and the little car shot loyally forward.

From the door behind me came my mother-in-law's voice, raised in an imperative command. But I pretended not to hear her, and in another minute we were well on the road to the Ticer farm.

There was a man who was a sailor. One day he said to himself I am going to look for a job. On the way he met a boy. He said to the boy. Do you know if there is a ship around here? Yes I do said the boy. Where at said the sailor. Down by the river said the boy. All right said the sailor. I thank you very much. At last he came to the river. He saw a battle ship there. He wandered about the ship some time. At last he met the captain. He said where are you going my boy? I am looking for a job said the sailor. Come with me said the captain. He took him on board for a sailor. The next day they started to sail to England. That day they sailed and sailed. The captain said to one of the men Look there is a storm coming this way. We better get a move on us. That night the rain fell and fell. There was Lightning and Thunder. The ship was thrown on the rocks. The sailors got in a row boat and tried to row to shore. But they were all lost and our sailor boy was lost too.

THE ADVENTURES OF TWO BEGGAR BOYS.

Long ago there lived two boys whose names were Frank and Billy. They were two beggar boys, and being beggars they did not have much to eat. Once in a while they would have roasted acorns and a piece of stale bread. One day Frank said to Billy: "Let's go into the woods and see if we can find adventure." So the two started out with each a piece of stale bread in their pockets. As they were wandering in the woods they heard a strange noise. It sounded like an owl hooting but they kept on going and pretty soon it began to grow dark so the two boys lay down amongst the leaves to sleep. Pretty soon they slept and at daylight they were off again. As they went along they saw a hut. Frank said: "Let's go there and see if we can get something more to eat so they started for the hut. When they got there Frank rapped on the door, but no one came. He rapped again. No one came. They walked in a little scared and inside they saw a lot of buttons like electric light buttons. Billy pressed one of the buttons. The walls began going around and around. Bill pressed the same button and the walls stopped going around. Frank said to Billy: "There is something funny about this hut."

Just then four men came in with guns in their hands. When they all got in and shut the door the leader said: "What are you doing in my house?" The boys spoke up and said "We thought this place was deserted".

"What business had you to come in and press that button?"

"It was kind of dark and we thought that button would turn on the lights."

The leader pulled one of his guns and was going to shoot the boys.

"Don't shoot mister. Please don't shoot. If you don't shoot we will stay here and work for you. Any thing you have to do."

"Alright" said the man. It was dark now so one went and got a lantern and there was soon light again. The boys retired and were soon asleep dreaming of being back with their mother. Soon the men retired too and when the boys awoke in the morning the men were gone. Frank dressed and on the table were the men's dirty dishes.

"Well, here is a note for us said Frank.

It only said: "Don't touch anything in this house" He did not sign his name to the note. The boys said: "Here is our chance to beat it away from these men."

Before they went they looked around a little. In a corner they saw a chest which was all they could do to lift. In it were bags of money. Frank said: "Let's you and I take one." This they did. They ran as fast as they could with the money in their arms. When they got home they told their mothers. The mothers told the police and the next day the police went to the hut and found the men drunk and took them to the police station in the patrol wagon and Frank and Billy got a reward of $50,000.

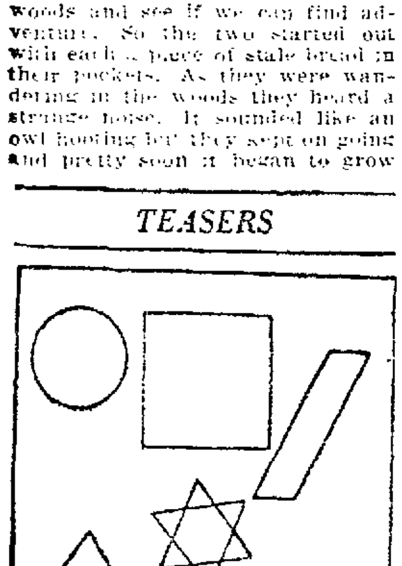
TEASERS



No. 10—Proportionate Areas.

In trying this teaser follow directions carefully. Try it on yourself and then on your friends. Each of the six geometric figures shown above has a different area, the area being the space included within the outside lines of the figure. Check off the figure which you think has the greatest area as number "one." Next mark the next largest "two" and so on until you have rated all six figures. You should do this in about one minute. The correct areas and "check-up" will appear Monday.

Yesterday's Teaser.

Line 2 equaled 1½ inches; [illegible] 1 inch; [illegible] inch. Rate as follows: For every line you judged correctly count one point, for every line away from the correct one count an extra point. Example: If you called line 2, equal to 1½ inches, count one point; if you called line 1, or line 3, count two points; if you estimated line 4, count three points, etc. A score of three points is perfect and is exceptional; 4 points, very good; 5, good; 6, average; more than 7 points, poor.

THE BRAVE GIRL.

In the time of the Revolution, a regiment of Hessian soldiers hired to fight on the British side, were camped in South Carolina. They took possession of the lower part of the house by a farmer named Gibbes. The family were forced to retire to the upper story. Two American boats came up the Stono river, and attacked these Hessians. Cannon balls were soon falling all about the house. Mr. Gibbes, who was ill, obtained permission to move his family to another place. To do this, the whole family had to cross a field, where cannon balls were flying thick. At last they were beyond reach of the cannons. Then they had remembered that a baby had been left behind. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Gibbes was able to travel back to the house again. The negroes were to frightened to go. All the others were children. "Little Mary Anne Gibbes was only thirteen years old. The baby that had been left behind was her cousin.

"I will go and get him," she said.

It was a dark stormy night, but she went back through all the danger. When she reached the house, the soldier who stood at the door objected to her entering. But, with tears in her eyes, she begged so hard that he permitted her to pass. In the third story of the house she found the baby.

Then downstairs and out into the darkness and the crash of battle she went.

But she reached her family carrying the baby, safe in her arms.

BEAN-BAG-BESS

Would you make the nicest sort of gift
For a little Birthday Girl or Boy,
One sure to bring, amidst the play
A shout of laughter and of joy?
Then make this little Bean-Bag-Bess
With smiling face and laughing eyes,
And send her to the Birthday Child
To be a Birthday-Glad-Surprise

This little Bean-Bag-Bess must be made of very strong cloth, such as factory cotton.

Either trace the picture onto the circle of cloth, using carbon paper or baste this newspaper picture on the cloth, then sew around all the features with outline stitch, sewing through both cloth and paper. When you have gone over all the lines, tear the paper away.

Color the little face with crayons and iron over the crayon markings with a warm iron or make them sink into the cloth.

Stitch up the round bag leaving a little opening through which to fill it. Although we say "bean-bag" rice is much better than beans for filling a small bag. Do not fill the bag more than half full then sew up the opening with heavy thread.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

WHEN SORTING CLOTHES

One Mother says:

In sorting the baby's and little children's clean clothes, I do not stack all the shirts in one pile, all the waists in another, etc. In one pile I put a shirt, an underwaist, bloomers, socks, petticoat and dress—everything that will be worn at one time—and have similar stacks of night wear. This saves a second handling and is a convenience when I dress the child.

Uncle Wiggily

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ICICLES

"Dear me! This is too bad!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning after the mail had come in and she was reading a letter.

"What is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Why, here is a note from Aunt Lettie, the goat lady, saying that she has the rheumatism so painfully that she can not do her washing at all."

"Do you mean she can't wash her face?" asked the bunny rabbit.

"No, I mean she can't wash out her clothes," went on Nurse Jane. "She says she started to put the clothesline up, but she had to stop and go back in her log cabin to rest."

"Why doesn't Uncle Butter help her?" asked Mr. Longears.

"He has gone to Atlantic City to rest a few days," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "He didn't know Aunt Lettie was going to be crippled with rheumatism or he wouldn't have gone, of course. Poor Aunt Lettie, she could hardly hold the pen in her hoof to write to me, her rheumatism hurts so!"

"Is there anything we could do?" asked Mr. Longears. "At least I could go to her house and string the clothesline for her. I've often done that for you. I can't wash the clothes, but I can put up the line."

"Perhaps that would be a good thing to do," said Nurse Jane. "But don't ask Aunt Lettie to play golf," she added.

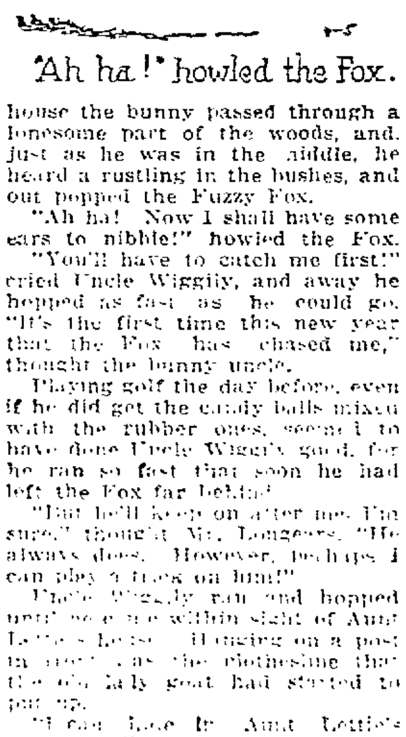
"Ask her to play golf—when she has the rheumatism!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, and then he looked at Nurse Jane and she looked at him and laughed. For it was only the day before that the bunny said he couldn't bring up a scuttle of coal for his muskrat lady housekeeper because his rheumatism pained him so much.

And a few minutes later he went out playing golf with Uncle Butter. That's why Nurse Jane laughed. And she also laughed because Uncle Wiggily gave her a rubber golf ball to eat in mistake for a candy ball. But you remember all that from the story last night, I dare say.

"All right," went on the bunny gentleman, "I'll not ask Aunt Lettie to play golf, but I will go and put up her clothesline."

"It will be kind of you," spoke Nurse Jane.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped the bunny gentleman. On his way to Aunt Lettie's house the bunny passed through a lonesome part of the woods, and, just as he was in the middle, he heard a rustling in the bushes, and out popped the Fuzzy Fox.



'Ah ha!' howled the Fox.

"Ah ha! Now I shall have some ears to nibble!" howled the Fox.

"You'll have to catch me first!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and away he hopped as fast as he could go. "It's the first time this new year that the Fox has chased me," thought the bunny uncle.

Playing golf the day before, even if he did get the candy balls mixed with the rubber ones, seemed to have done Uncle Wiggily good, for he ran so fast that soon he had left the Fox far behind.

"But he'll keep on after me, I'm sure," thought Mr. Longears. "He always does. However, perhaps I can play a trick on him!"

Uncle Wiggily ran and hopped until he came within sight of Aunt Lettie's house. Hanging on a post in front was the clothesline that the old lady goat had started to put up.

"I can hide in Aunt Lettie's house until the Fox passes by," thought the bunny. "My! what a lot of long, sharp icicles there are hanging from Aunt Lettie's roof!" thought the bunny. And, indeed, there was a large number of the spears of ice, as sharp as Indian arrows, hanging from the eaves.

Uncle Wiggily hopped on. The Fox was just in sight coming up the hill. The bunny popped inside the goat lady's cabin.

"Why are you in such a hurry?" bleated Aunt Lettie.

"The Fox is after me!" panted the bunny. "But I know how I can play a trick on him."

"How?" asked the goat lady.

"I'll fasten some loops of your clothesline to the row of icicles hanging from your roof," answered the rabbit. "Then I'll hide in your doorway, and when the Fox comes along I'll pull the rope. The icicles will be pulled loose and fall on the back of the Fox. That will stick him and drive him away."

"Good!" bleated Aunt Lettie. "Do it."

And Uncle Wiggily did. Quickly he fastened one end of the clothesline to the row of icicles. Holding the other end of the rope in his paw, the bunny hid in the doorway. Up came the Fox.

"Where is that rabbit?" he growled.

"Here I am!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. He pulled the rope. Down fell the icicles, sticking the Fox all over in his back.

"Wowchie! Ouchie! Wow!" howled the bad chap, and away he ran. Then Uncle Wiggily fastened up the clothesline for Aunt Lettie and then Dr. Possum came and gave her something for her rheumatism and she could wash and hang out the clothes. So all turned out for the best.

And if the lemonade doesn't try to hide in the bottle of milk when the sugar cookie is trying to jump the rope, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's bob sled.

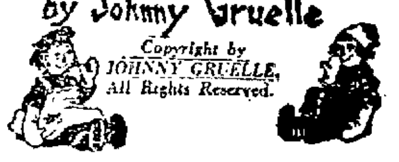
The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle



Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE, All Rights Reserved.

"DID Hookie, the Goblin, capture Raggedy Andy and the nice, kind Snitznoodle?" Raggedy Ann asked the Howloon after she had put a rubber patch on him and blown him up with a bicycle pump.

"Yes, he did!" the Howloon replied. "The Goblin has put Raggedy Andy in a trunk and the Snitznoodle is locked up in a closet! If the Goblin had not snipped my rubber side with a pair of scissors and let all the air out of me, I would have wrestled him and rescued our friends!"

"Now what shall we do?" Raggedy Ann asked. "We cannot climb up to the window at the top of Hookie's house, and we cannot break open the door because it is made of iron!"

THE HOWLOON CONSIDERED FOR A MOMENT.

The Howloon considered for a moment and then said: "If there was some way for me to get in under the Goblin's house, I would raise up real quick and upset it, then when the house tumbled over on its side, you could all run in and rescue Raggedy Andy and the Snitznoodle!"

"There is a small hole down under the Goblin's house!" Raggedy Ann said as she looked in that direction, "but it is much too small for you to crawl in!"

The Howloon looked at the hole and saw that it was, indeed, much too small.

"I tell you what we can do, Raggedy Ann!" he finally said. "You can take a pin and puncture me, then when all the wind is out of me, you can stuff me in the hole under Hookie's house and then blow me up!"

"Are you quite sure it will not hurt you to be punctured, Mister Howloon?" Raggedy Ann asked.

The Howloon laughed. "It will not hurt a smidgin!" he replied. So Raggedy Ann stuck a pin in him and she and Mr. and Mrs. Cookie and the Gingerbread man all squeezed the Howloon until all the wind was out of him and he was flat again. Then they pushed him into the hole under the Goblin's house and all took turns pumping him up with a bicycle pump. After they had pumped awhile, Raggedy Ann said, "Look, it makes the Goblin's house tip over sideways!"

This was quite true. The more air they pumped into the rubber Howloon, the higher he raised the Goblin's house at one side.

"What are you doing down there?" the Goblin shouted, putting his head out of the window at the top. "The first thing you know you will tip my house over!"

"That's just what we are trying to do!" Raggedy Ann said. "Then we can rescue Raggedy Andy and the Snitznoodle!"

"Better not pump any more!" the Howloon said after awhile, "I am almost twice as large as I have ever been before and I am afraid I may pop, like a toy balloon, when it is blown too tight!"

"Oh, dear!" Raggedy Ann said, "just a little more and the house would have tipped over! Let's all catch hold and pull!" So the Cookie people and Raggedy Ann pulled and pulled, until finally the house tipped right over. But sad to say, it tipped too fast, neither Raggedy Ann nor the Cookie people had time to get out of the way and the house fell right on top of them.

"Aha!" the Goblin cried, as he climbed out of his window and saw what had happened, "Now I have captured every last one of you!" And so it seemed.

LIVERMORE COWBOYS WILL PLAY HOST TO TEAM FROM LEGRANDE

Five McGlinchey Brothers Will Play on Battery C Team Tonight; All - Stars Have Enviable Record; Bruins Return Home Tomorrow.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

The Livermore Cowboys, after a week of practice since their game with the Oregon Aggies last Saturday night at Livermore, are on edge for their game with the Le Grande All-Stars at Sweeney's Opera House at Livermore tonight.

The LeGrande team, a crack quintet including on the squad seven brothers, has been playing together for the past nine years and issued a challenge which was accepted by the Cowboys, resulting in the arranging of tonight's game. which promises to be unique in the annals of basketball in this section.

The entire town of Livermore is enthused over basketball, particularly over the doings of the McGlinchey family. the five brothers playing on the Livermore Cowboy team.

Manager Dave Hope of the Cowboys received word from the LeGrande team this morning stating that due to a last minute change in plans, for reasons not stated, it would be impossible for all five brothers of the LeGrande team to appear at Livermore tonight but the McGlinchey family will, nevertheless, due the honors for the home town, according to Hope.

LeGrande Quintet Issued Challenge.

Three years ago, when the Los Angeles Athletic club's crack quintet performed in Livermore, the Cowboys quintet, then just on the first lap of their road to fame, gave the southern clubmen the surprise of their tour.

Assuming that the teamwork of the LeGrande team has improved to keep pace with the improvement noted in the playing of the Livermore quintet, tonight's game should be one of the feature contests of the basketball season. Remembering that few, if any, college teams, could compare with the Livermore boys at their present gait on their home floor, the quality of basketball will surpass anything to be seen in this section during the season.

To entertain the crowd, which gathers early to secure the available seats, a preliminary game between the Gomez All-Stars and the Scott Midgets will be played starting at 7 o'clock. The two teams are composed of youngsters of an average weight of 70 pounds.

Kyte and Belasco Stars for Bruins.

Apparently the University of California quintet is enjoying it's stay in Southern California. Having played three games to date, the hardest one being the contest against the University of Redlands Thursday night, the Bears are about to pack bag and baggage and return to Berkeley tomorrow.

Although college at Berkeley does not open until January 14, the Bears will put in some hard licks next week preparing for the opening game against the Olympic club at Harmon gym on January 15.

According to reports from the south Kyte and Belasco, who were expected to battle for the running guard position, are both showing to good advantage and this may result in Coach Wight making a switch in his plans, for both are veterans of last year and he can hardly afford to keep either one on the bench half the game.

Drillers Celebrate Fourth State Title

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 5.—With cheers, prophesies and congratulations the Bakersfield high school football eleven's fourth annual state championship was commemorated last night at the ninth annual banquet honoring the local players and California's famous coaches.

C. White, will arrive here today to assume charge of the golf club here during the absence of his brother.

Here are the five members of the famous McGlinchey family of Livermore, all athletes and at present all members of the Livermore Cowboys' basketball team which entertains the Le Grande quintet at Livermore tonight.

For the past several years four members of the family have been basketball stars and the family took full control of the team this season when the youngest of the five, Francis, joined the squad.

Henderson Boasts Record With Trojans

U. S. C. Has No Reason to Be Dissatisfied With Grid Coach.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—One look at the University of Southern California's football record for the five years that Elmer C. Henderson has been head coach makes it apparent why the Trojan alumni recently presented "Gloomy Gus," as the U. S. C. coach is called, with a $3000 automobile to show their appreciation for his efforts.

Henderson took over U. S. C.'s football destinies in 1919 and since that time the Trojans have scored a total of 868 points to their opponents' 137 and have won thirty-two games, lost five and tied none.

Andy Smith's California Bears have been the Trojans' nemesis. Four of the defeats inflicted upon U. S. C. were credited to California, while the Washington Huskies accounted for the other Trojan set-back last fall at Seattle.

WORST SEASON.

The season just finished was the worst suffered by U. S. C. since Henderson took charge, the Trojans winning from Caltech, Pomona, Nevada, Stanford, Arizona and Idaho, but losing to Washington and California. At that U. S. C. was the only team to score on California, losing to the Bears by a 14 to 7 score.

The Trojan's best defensive year was in 1922 when their goal line was crossed only three times, twice by Pomona and once by California. In the same year U. S. C. won ten games and dropped only the encounter with the Bears. Stanford, Washington State, Idaho, Nevada and Penn State were among the elevens to fall before the prowess of the Trojans in 1922.

HAD GOOD YEAR.

U. S. C.'s best offensive year was in 1921 when the Trojans scored 203 points in seven games. A 38 to 7 licking handed them by the Bears spoiled the Trojans' defensive record for the year. In 1920 the Trojans went through the season without suffering a loss, winning from Caltech, Occidental, Stanford, Pomona, Nevada and Oregon. No game was scheduled with California that year. In 1919, Henderson's first year, the Trojans played only five games, winning from Pomona, Occidental, Utah and Stanford, but losing to California by a 14 to 13 score.

Henderson's contract at U. S. C. has four more years to run and as long as "Gloomy" is in charge Trojan grid enthusiasts are confident that the University of Southern California will be on the football map.

GIVE LINKS A CHANCE COURSE TO BE CLOSED

By BOB SHAND

Announcement of the temporary closing of the municipal links can be expected daily, and when it comes there will be hundreds of disappointed golfers. However, it is a case of necessity. The recent rains have soaked the fairways and greens and constant skidding and tramping over the course will do it serious damage. With the ground in its present condition the going is a bit sloppy, to say the least, and it is quite an accomplishment to go around the course without taking an occasional brodie. Leaving the third tee the ground is as slippery as ice, while the betting is even money that you can't negotiate the first hill of the eighth fairway without skidding a few times.

However, apart from the discomfort of playing the course in it's present condition it is necessary to keep the customers off for a while in order to give the grass a chance. As soon as a few blades spring up now they are trampled under and every step on certain fairways leaves a deep depression. If the course was kept open throughout the winter and spring would find it worse than a washboard with natural hazards every few feet.

Considering that the course was only opened last summer it is in remarkably good condition but with the right kind of care this winter the players will have something worth while to shoot over in the spring. The fairways have never had a chance to get into shape and the greens have been trampled almost bare in sports. The grass that was placed last winter has done the best it could under the circumstances but parts of the fairways are entirely denuded and the man who uses a brassie is taking a chance of ruining his club. Next spring there will be a thick coating of grass everywhere which will give the players a chance to get under the ball and take their shots with a reasonable degree of confidence. It is the lack of grass that has caused the present epidemic of "The Tops." If you don't know what that is take a look at the ball of a novice after he has played a couple of holes.

The course is still open and will remain in use until the heavy winter rains start. Due notice of the closing date will be given in these columns.

Soccer League to Play Final Games

The Bay Cities Soccer League season ends tomorrow with the playing of four scheduled games on Eastbay fields. The Rangers, leading the race by a margin of a single point over the Sons of St. George, will clinch the championship should they win from the Ancient Order of Foresters at Washington park, Alameda.

A tie game or a defeat for the Rangers tomorrow would enable the Sons of St. George, runners up, to tie or win the league by scoring a win over the British War Veterans at the San Pablo playgrounds.

The Virtus Italian club will tackle the U. S. L. at Idora Park in a feature game while the Golden Gate Merchants and Neptunes will clash at the Forty-fifth and San Pablo field.

Pomona Accepts California Game

CLAREMONT, Jan. 5.—The athletic council of Pomona College last night accepted the invitation of the University of California to play the Golden Bears at Berkeley, October 11. Twenty-five pigskin men will make the trip for the contest, which will mark the second time that the Sagehens have faced California on the gridiron, the first occasion being in 1904.

The council also fixed the date of the Pomona-University of Southern California grid game for October 4 upon the recommendation of Coach Eugene Nixon, who stated that he preferred to have his hardest game come at the opening of the season.

VALLEJO BASKET GAME.

VALLEJO, Jan. 5.—Vallejo high and the Daly City high fives are to meet tonight at the "Y" in Sonoma street. Two 120-pound teams from the "Y" will stage the curtain-raiser game.

GLEESON VS. COYNE.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Eddie Gleeson and Tommy Coyne, lightweights, will featrre the opening 1924 boxing card at the Los Angeles Athletic club next Thursday night.

Contract Sent to Six P. C. L. Umpires

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Contracts have been sent to six umpires to perform in the Coast league, it was announced today by President Harry Williams. The contracts were addressed to Umpires McGrew, Casey, Becker, Carroll, Finney and Riordan. Umpires Jack Ward and Jimmy Toman are definitely out of berths, it is said.

Good increases in salary are declared by Williams to have been offered all six men.

Williams also said that salaries for Coast league umpires were not enough at present and this is expected to be one of the main questions to come before the meeting of the Coast league next week at Oakland.

Marysville Boys Make Good Showing

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 5.—Prospects for 1924 in athletics in the Marysville Union high school are exceedingly bright, according to Coach Lee Bassett.

Of the [illegible] boys attending the school, 47 are out for football honors and 16 are entered in cross-country contests. There are 116 boys taking the regular physical education course.

Bruin Hoopsters Beat Pomona, 58-7

CLAREMONT, Jan. 5.—The basketball squad of the University of California last night annexed another preseason Southern California victory, defeating Pomona College, 58 to 7. The Bears will play their last game of the Southern California series Saturday night at Whittier against Whittier College.

Senators Trade Paul Fittery for C. Hall

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 5.—Paul Fittery, pitcher with Sacramento, Pacific Coast league, will come to St. Paul of the American Association in exchange for Charlie Hall, pitcher, it was announced today.

Bears Lose Track Stars By 'Flunking'

"Duke" Lindstrom and Boyden Lost; Only One Blewett "Flunked Out."

UNIVERISTY OF CALIFORNIA, Jan. 5.—With final reports for last semester mailed yesterday from the Recorder's office it appears certain that California will lose but few athletic stars as a result of failure to pass examinations.

Rumors and counter rumors have been circulated freely about the campus since final examinations but to date few athletes have been discovered who are known to have "flunked out."

Dean T. M. Putnam of the Undergraduate Division, in accordance with the University of California's policy in such matters, refused to discuss the scholastic standing of any athletes today.

FEW ARE LOST.

It was learned, however, from reliable sources that the "flunk out" list would not contain many stars of prominence.

Bernhard "Duke" Lindstrom, Walter Christie's promising quarter mile star who captured second place in the Stanford-California meet last year, was an unexpected addition to the list of those who are to be recorded "absent on leave" in the annual Blue and Gold for the spring semester.

Lindstrom today stated that he had failed to pass the required number of units and would compete as a member of the Olympic club track team during the coming season.

Lindstrom confirmed the rumor that Elmer Boyden, star middle distance runner of last year's freshman team, was lost, stating that Coach Walter Christie had been apprised of the fact that Boyden had "flunked."

BILL ALONE FLUNKED.

John Lindstrom, fraternity brother of Bill Blewett, confirmed the report that the star drop kicker of Andy Smith's grid squad was a victim of the faculty ax but at the same time denied that Dick Blewett had flunked. "Dick Blewett took out a leave of absence before the close of last semester," stated Lindstrom yesterday afternoon. "It is expected that both Bill and Dick Blewett will return to Berkeley at the start of Intersession and continue through both Inter and Summer sessions in order to make the required number of units, thus becoming eligible for football again next fall."

Thus the only known casualties suffered to date are those of Boyden and Lindstrom, both men badly needed by Walt Christie for his track team, who will be ineligible for the 1924 California track competition.

Tiger Hurler Goes to Reds For Big Price

With Jakie and Carl Mays Added to Staff Moran Should Win Flag.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—For the benefit of those who may have the money, the time and the disposition next fall, it might not be out of order to announce now that Cincinnati is a real town.

Cincinnati has good hotels and agreeable climate, fine transportation, natural beauty and most hospitable citizens.

Cincinnati has had experience in handling a world's series and the city should do at least as well next fall as it did five years ago.

Such positive moves are being made by the owners of the Cincinnati Reds to block off the opposition that it seems almost certain at the current writing that the Reds will win the National league pennant.

Much water can flow, etc., between now and then, but Pat Moran has a team ready for the pennant race that can be stopped only by a succession of very bad breaks.

Garry Herrmann, the genial boss of the Reds, the chairman of most all of the committees in Cincinnati and the world's champion entertainer, added Jake May, the celebrated southpaw of the Pacific Coast league, to the rosters of the Reds yesterday.

The Reds were able to arrange the deal with the Vernon club without reducing the strength of the team in any great portion.

It may be argued that May was only the big toad of a little puddle, but he must have something, else the New York Yanks never would have made such strenuous efforts to get him.

Making use of profits, Herrmann also bought Carl Mays from the New York Yanks since the season closed and unless everyone is wrong, Mays will win a lot of games for the Reds. His underhand ball is new to National League batters and it will take more than one season for it to become antiquated.

Since last fall the Reds also have obtained Sheehan from the St. Paul American Association club. Several major league scouts have given their opinion that Sheehan was the best pitcher in all the minors. Pat Moran had a great pitching staff last year and now he has the finest staff in the major leagues, in Luque, Donohue, Rixey, Benton, Mays, May, Sheehan and a couple of fine youngsters, who may step out as big winners. The famed and vaunted staff of the Yanks has nothing on the layout.

Herman turned over $30,000 in cash and W. L. Kimmick, a shortstop, and Pitcher Fred Peck. Although both players ae good ones, their going to the Coast League is not expected to hurt the Reds' chances in the fight for the pennant.

Last Night's fight results

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, moved another step closer to his goal—a match for Benny Leonard's world title—by defeating Johnny Shugrue of Waterbury, Conn., in less than five rounds last night in Madison Square Garden.

Moran punished the game Waterbury star so severely that the referee stopped the contest in the fifth round to save Shugrue from further punishment. Moran thus won the match technically.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 5.—Davy Barry of Bellingham and "Baby" Blue of California, heavyweights, fought a four-round draw in a main event here last night.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5. — Gene Cline of Oakland won a decision over Lefty Cooper here last night, after four fast rounds in the main event battle for the Victory club program. Cline piled up a marginal lead in the three opening rounds, Cooper staging a rally in the fourth.

Frankie Vierra of Alameda won a decision over Billy Lakeman of Oakland.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5.—Young Gallano of New Orleans was given a decision over Jimmy Sacco of Los Angeles after fifteen rounds.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Stewart McLean and Dandy Dick Griffin last night fought a vicious draw in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. McLean floored Griffin in the opening round, but the latter came back strong in the second and third and would have won had he not slowed down in the fourth.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Pal Moran, the New Orleans lightweight, defeated Johnny Shugrue of Jersey City, when the referee stopped their bout in the fifth round to save Shugrue from further punishment. Shugrue could not longer see through bloody eyes but was still on his feet when the referee intervened.

OMAHA, Jan. 5.—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion of the world, was awarded the decision over Earl McArthur of Sioux City, Iowa, here last night. McArthur took a severe beating from the champion, although he carried the fighting to Lynch during the greater part of the fight.

TO COMPETE AT ASCOT.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Jules Ellingboe, Canadian national champion automobile racer, will participate in the opening of the new Ascot speedway here January 20, it was announced here.

Mrs. E. Porter Is Winner of Flag Tourney

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Despite a freezing north wind seventeen enthusiastic women golfers participated in the Flag tournament at Sequoyah yesterday. Mrs. E. D. Porter was the winner, having planted her flag nearer home than any of her 16 opponents. Mrs. Porter, who was allotted 94 strokes, had a problem to solve after playing her 93d stroke on the 16th fairway. A full shot would have probably fallen short of the green into the water hazzard, and yet she had to get as close as possible without actually reaching the pond. This she accomplished and finished ahead of Mrs. E. H. Stevenson, who had played two strokes on the 16th fairway and was about 150 yards short of the pond. Mrs. Stevenson's handicap is 29, which added to the revised women's par of 78 gave her 107 strokes. Mrs. R. E. Cotter's handicap plus par gave her 105 strokes and with her last stroke she drove from the 16th tee just across the 15th fairway.

The old par at Sequoyah was 82, a figure that few women players approach. The new par may figure out all right on paper, but few women can get enough carry on their tee shots to get within hailing distance of 78, especially under winter conditions. Mrs. C. G. Knight's last stroke was played from the 16th tee, and just failed by inches to equal Mrs. Cotter's drive.

The following members also competed and planted their flags from the 15th green backwards: Mrs. Horace Hare, Mrs. Roland Oliver, Mrs. Hugo Lorber, Mrs. O. Ellinghouse, Mrs. Robert Blake, Mrs. Clarence Graham, Mrs. Wyman Taylor, Mrs. Milton Johnson, Mrs. S. E. Jackson, Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Roscoe Jones, Mrs. Bernhard, and Mrs. Robinson. The last two are new members and performed satisfactorily in their initial tryout.

Winners finishing position:

Mrs. E. D. Porter—78-16-94—1st at edge of pond.

Mrs. E. H. Stevenson—78-29-107—2nd, 150 yards from pond.

Mrs. R. E. Cotter—78-27-105—3d, 160 yards from the pond.

Next Friday the Reds captained by Mrs. R. E. Cotter will compete with Mrs. Horace Hare's Blue team. Mrs. Cotter will donate a ball to each of the winners.

InterClub Golf Planned in South

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—A schedule of inter-team matches representing 25 Southern California golf clubs was prepared here yesterday by George Cline, chairman of inter-club competition committee of the Southern California Golf Association. The opening matches will start here next Wednesday and continue until April 10, after which the teams with the greatest number of points will play for the Southern California title.

Willie Hope and Manager Go North

Willie Hope and his manager, Tod Sloan, left for Portland this morning via enclosed flivver and expect to reach their destination sometime. Hope has been promised a main event with Young Carmen in the Rose City January 20. The lad is still bothered with stomach sores but thinks the trip north will cure him. They will return here next month.

Alameda County Winter League

With only a fighting chance of topping the circuit at the close of the season, the J. J. Kriegs will invade San Leandro tomorrow afternoon to meet the Cherry Pickers in what may be the deciding game of the Alameda Winter League.

Victory for the Cherry Pickers will clinch the pennant for Bill Wagner's tribe, the first to reward the persistency of the San Leandro skipper for years. first place are remote.

The Cherry Pickers have a decided edge on the Clothiers, an edge which makes the San Leandro club the favorite in tomorrow's fracas. In five games played between the two clubs this year, San Leandro has won four. If San Leandro wins that club will open a three game series with the champion of the Knights of Columbus league the following Sunday.

After two weeks enforced idleness, the California Cotton Mills will get back into action against the Alameda Elks at Lincoln Park. Victory for the Millers will place the club in first division, although the invaders have not played as many games as the Verzic Bakers. Victory or defeat will mean little or nothing to the Elks as far as position is concerned. On dope the two clubs are fairly well matched and the resultant competition should keep Lincoln Park habitues well entertained during the afternoon.

"Cake-Eaters" Make Football Society Event

ROCKFORD, Ill., Jan. 5.—Football games will be reported on society pages instead of sporting pages by 1940, Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, told the St. Thomas high school squad at a banquet here tonight, unless college "cake-eaters" were converted into "he-men." Football is not too rough for high school or college, Rockne said. "We need the game as it is played today if we are to retain the red blood we inherited from our forefathers," he added.

Church to Celebrate Anniversary

Tomorrow morning in the Rose Room of Hotel Oakland the eighth anniversary service of the First Universalist church, formerly known as the Church of the Universal Christ, will be held under the leadership of Bernard C. Ruggles. The church began its activities in Oakland in the Rose Room and still continues.

Great changes have come to the city since Ruggles came from Buffalo eight years ago. To the people of Oakland he sends the following greeting:

"Eight years ago I came to your city to make it my permanent home and to found my ideal of a church. You have given me a generous hearing and your confidence and good will. In return I have always sought to give a boost and never a knock, always treating other religious organizations with charity and tolerance. Recently four different leaders of great denominations have declared the world needs a universal Christianity instead of sectarianism, and needs to follow the universal Christ. To this ideal I wholeheartedly dedicate my efforts the coming years of my ministry in Oakland."

For the anniversary service the music of the regular soloists will be augmented by a Filipino orchestra under the direction of Bernarbe Solis, the church pianist. He is also bringing a Russian choir to assist. Mrs. Martha MacGregor, the church soloist, will sing a special number and Miss Fern Backman, violinist, will assist.

For his anniversary message, Mr. Ruggles will speak on the theme, "The Man Who Dares With God."

DR. LEAVENS HOLDS MAN IS EVOLUTIONARY

"Man," will be the subject this month in the series of studies on "Evolution and Religion," to which all departments of the First Unitarian church, Berkeley, are devoting some of their meetings this year.

Robert F. Leavens will deliver his fifth sermon in this series tomorrow on "Man in Creation," pointing out that man is a part of the evolutionary process, not apart from it, and also that he has a part in it, being a creative agent as well as a product of creation.

"The Genesis of Man" is the topic for next Sunday in the church school, under the general heading "The Story of Man."

On Friday evening, January 11, the regular meeting of the Laymen's League will be addressed by Robert Trumpler of Lick observatory. The Laymen's League as shifted the order of subjects in their program for the year and will discuss "The Growth of Worlds" this month, because it is possible at this time to secure Trumpler as a speaker. The discussion will be led by A. L. Day.

Dr. Moon to Talk On Revelation

Beginning tomorrow evening, Rev. R. H. Moon of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will begin a series of Sunday evening messages on the Book of Revelation.

Speaking of this forthcoming series, Dr. Moon states: "The Book of Revelation is to most people a riddle instead of a revelation. It is probably the least read and least understood of any of the books of the Bible. This is exactly the opposite of what God intended it should be. He promised a special blessing even to those who would read the book."

Will anybody be able to celebrate two birthdays in 1924? What should young men be on their twenty-fifth birthday? Young women on their twentieth birthday? What should men and women be on their fortieth birthday? On their sixtieth? On their seventieth?

The Temple choir, under the direction of W. B. Kennedy, will give the anthems "The Radiant Morn is Passed," by H. H. Woodward, and "Fear Not, O Israel," by M. Rev. Clarence Reed Says:

The present effort to express religion in terms of modern life is one of the greatest movements of history. Modern ideas in regard to religion are in the air we breathe, and the iron bars of superstition and bigotry cannot repress them. All the facts of religion should be submitted without hesitation to historical research and scientific inquiry, and judged by the laws of evidence.

Is There a Modern Colossus at Rhodes?

YOU recall how the bronze of Apollo was erected at the gates to the city of Rhodes in 280 B. C.—and the traffic of the ancient world passed between its outspread limbs. The gigantic Colossus typified the character of that day. Is there a modern Colossus exemplifying the temper and character of our modern civilization? Is it a statue of gold?—is it an enormous figure with breastplate and side arms of blood lust?—is it a figure of gilt and grace, but hollow and heartless and empty of head? What moves the current of human action today—press, politics, preaching, or purchasing power? You will want to hear Dr. Snaps Sunday night at 7:45—"The Modern Colossus: Where and What Is It?"

The largest Sunday night congregations in Oakland attend this church, regularly. Share in our happy evening service—a warm church, comfortable seats, splendid music, good companionship and a message that strikes home and makes you want to come again—it's well worth your while!

ARMS TO MEXICO?

It is notable that this is the first Mexican revolution which did not seek to involve this country. Obregon's government is likewise the first Mexican government in ten years which has not had an open season for shooting Americans and confiscating American property.

Huerta, leading force behind the revolt, had his schooling with the Obregon regime. He is acquainted in Washington, was a member of an important mission which met there not so long ago, and knows that it would be foolish, if not fatal to his cause, if his army should trespass upon the rights of American citizens. The result is a Mexican revolution which has not called for augmented forces of the United States army on the border, expeditions across the line, and concern lest we be drawn into the mess.

The proposal to sell arms to Mexico is regarded by some as involving this country in the war. It is regarded by others as a move for peace and stable government inasmuch as it would tend to perpetuate the first Mexican system in years which has been dedicated to a constructive program. The Obregon program for the relieving of the masses from the bondage of ignorance and for the rehabilitating of the country financially has progressed to a point where it would be little short of criminal to allow it to be dropped. The revolt is not one of an oppressed people but one of disappointed and aggrieved politicans. It is without the support of Mexican labor and voices as its appeal opportunities for the enrichment of the few.

There are two sides to the argument of the proposed sale of arms to Mexico.

BUILDING AND 1924.

Architects and builders are looking for an increase in the building program for 1924. Their estimates, written in the technical journals, are based upon facts and conditions and are without the color of local optimism or the desire to aid prosperity with glowing predictions.

The editor of Architecture has estimated that during the first four months of 1924 the building situation will carry on at about its present rate, which can be reckoned as about 15 per cent higher than in December, 1922, and January, 1923. At the beginning of the Spring season there will be a noticeable increase in activity which should continue for several months. All indications are that Fall and Winter of 1924 will see even more building than at the present time. Construction right now is increasing rapidly showing a large gain over a year ago.

The building outlook, this expert says, can be termed very good but this does not mean that there will be abnormal boom conditions. Many of the splurges in the construction field in the past have been neither healthy nor normal. According to the estimate of Architecture the country will spend for residences in 1924, $1,400,000,000; for public buildings and utilities, $340,000,000; for business buildings, $750,000,000; educational buildings, $630,000,000; industrial buildings, $335,000,000, and for other classes, $210,000,000. It will be seen that 34 per cent of the estimate is for residences.

This estimate is for the whole country. When Architecture studies the various localities separately it has this to say of the Pacific Coast:

"California in particular has not suffered any financial or building depression, and the same is true of the entire Pacific Coast district. Building in that territory is progressing at an unprecedented rate."

NOT FOR THE FEW.

Every time the thousands attend a football game to witness the performance of some thirty or forty athletes there is born a group of critics who declare that university athletics are for the few. The only outlet for the energies of the great body of students, it is said, is in the rooting stands. The hundreds cheer while the few play the game.

For all the repetitions of this charge, in print and on the stands, it is not true of the University of California, or of most of the great educational institutions. The students know of the compulsory gymnasium classes, the games which are played there and in which every man must take part. They know of the class teams, group teams, weight teams, and hundred-odd opportunities to engage in athletic competition.

It is time the public knew as much and stopped drawing a false conclusion from the fact that seventy or eighty thousand persons attend a big game each fall.

OBLIGATIONS OF "FAME."

The question of the propriety of a ban upon certain motion pictures as a result of the latest Los Angeles shooting and before the evidence has been considered may be debatable. Certainly, however, there is no questioning the general statement that the public has the right to demand of its heroes and heroines conduct which in some measure fits the role.

The motion pictures have had too many scandals. So, for that matter, have other lines of activities, dramatic, athletic and literary, which thrust small men and women into places of large importance. There is a convincing persistence in the reports which come from Hollywood which indicates that a minority there is destroying the reputation of the whole. It is time that the motion picture actors and actresses, themselves, join with the public in bettering conditions.

The one who basks in the light of what is called fame must assume obligations of deportment because he is an example and a hero to so many thousands. When it becomes apparent that none but those of at least average deportment may expect to remain upon the popular pedestal there may be enough of warning in the situation to bring about better conditions. It is not fair to the decent men and women in the motion pictures to allow them to be judged by the frequent misbehavings of a comparatively small number.

A MINING DEPARTMENT?

Advantageous as it might be to certain parts of the country, Senator Tasker Odie's proposal for a separate department of mines is not likely to meet with favorable action in Congress. It is generally conceded that the cabinet is large enough and that more members would bring complications and unwieldiness. Added to this is the fact that a number of organizations are backing proposals for various other cabinet positions.

There is, for instance, a plan to create a Secretary of Education, independent of the Department of the Interior. Another proposal is for a Secretary of Forestry. The Odie bill, which he intends to push despite indications of administration disapproval, would create a Secretary of Mining and take from the Department of Interior its present supervision of the field.

It is, of course, problematical how much would be gained by having a mining man on the cabinet. The actual administration of the duties now conducted by the Mining Bureau might not be bettered by a Secretary, but the mining point of view and the mining interests would be voiced with greater frequency in the higher executive councils. There is a plan to move the Bureau over to the Department of Commerce, a plan of distinct benefits so long as Secretary Hoover or a mining man happens to be head of that department. The business interests of mining would seem to give it as much, if not more, place in the Commerce Department as in that of the Interior.

At any rate, the Oddie bill will arouse beneficial discussion of the pressing mining problems and their needs for a greater amount of the government's attention.

According to the bent of the statisticians, prohibition in 1923 was a success, a failure, and everything between.

"Open the windows and let in the clean air of the New Year." Sure, the Christmas cigars are bad.

MEMORABLE DATES.

The year just past was not specially noteworthy for its centennial celebrations. One calls to mind that it completed one hundred years of the Monroe Doctrine and that Brazil celebrated a century of independence with an exposition, which, however, began in 1922. And 1924 will not be particularly rich in centenaries. This year, doubtless, will make history of its own which will be commemorated a century hence.

One of the notable events scheduled for this year is the tercentenary of the settlement of Manhattan Island and the beginnings of New York. A controversy has arisen over the precise date, but so far the adherents of 1624 have advanced the most convincing arguments.

One group contends that Manhattan Island was settled in 1623 and another avers that 1626 is the correct date. The majority, however, holds to the belief that the arrival of the Walloons and the Huguenots in 1624 marked the real beginnings of New York.

One hundred years ago the Marquis de Lafayette paid his last visit to the United States. As a result of the Reign of Terror in France he was impoverished. He was welcomed in America as an old friend and benefactor. Congress voted him $200,000 and gave him a township of land. However, after a short time spent here, conditions in his own country improved and he returned to France. He died in 1834.

Few foreigners have been held in such high esteem as Lafayette. His remarkable personality and his undoubted gifts of leadership made him much beloved. When he died Edward Everett said of him: "Who, I would ask, of the prominent names in history has run through such a career with so little reproach justly or unjustly bestowed?"

Possibly the hundredth anniversary of his last visit will serve to freshen the memory of the American people and to strengthen the ties of friendship with the country from which he came.—Seattle Times.

The LANTERN

Come, when the night is young,
Sprinkled with moon-gold,
Ghost mists arising.
Walk the tall pines among,
Fearless as shades enfold
Gently surprising.

Bring with you little dreams,
Brave ones that call for tears—
Long hours to nourish.
Here where the wonder gleams
Fancies are freed of fears,
Here they will flourish.
—A. B. S.

Nowadays.

(With genuflections to Maturin.)

'Tis well to be honest and true, love,
'Tis well to be merry and bold;
'Tis well to be sure of a new love,
Before you are off with the old.
—George O. Schoonhoven.

She Has One Head She Doesn't Use.

Sir: It's a queer thing how The Lantern seems to run to animals. The inelegant Mr. Marquis rode everywhere behind that yoke of insects he had harnessed to his car, Archy and The Old Soak, and now you go gamboling through space. . . . I should say SPACE . . . accompanied by the waggish Pup.

At the entrance to the infernal regions, we have been poetically informed, there is a sign of more than electric intensity which advises: ALL YE WHO ENTER HERE, LEAVE HOPE BEHIND. Near this sign is Cerberus, the Hound of Hades, stationed there, no doubt, to make sure that Hope really is left behind. If you are the same Hope referred to by the sign, is it not more than likely that your pup is of the same breed as Cerberus? How many heads has your pup?

Anyhow, it must be comforting to know that whoever enters Avernus, you are to be left behind.

If you had two pups, the naming of them would be easy—you could call one Joy and the other Charity.
KLASSIC KUSS.

* * *

What's in a name? The thing we call a Pup,
By any other name, would smell our feet. . . .
—Willandme.

The Psychanatomist.

I love all human beings.
It gives me such pure joy
To study their motives:

Motives they own to;
Motives that would like to make you think they have;
But are keeping very still about:

Nurse, the forceps . . .
Lifting fiber
From delicate fiber,
Let me see what motives
My dear friends are crediting to me.
Motives impossible
(Of course)
In themselves or any of their family!
—My dear friends, who have forgotten
More than Freud ever knew . . .

I am all the more amused
Because I have no motives of my own . . .
I assure you
Absolutely
None at all.
—Ellen Glines.

"CHARTERING OF BRITISH SHIP BY BAR CONDEMNED."—Headline.

Not, however by this department.

The argument among the clergy, which has been occupying so much space in the news columns lately, seems to resolve itself into the simple question, How large is a grain of salt and what should be taken with it?

A convict at Sing Sing has been let out of prison for a fine piece of acting he did in a convict play. . . . Now to reverse the procedure.
EDWARD HOPE.

GUTTA PERCHA.

We are now importing annually about ten million pounds of gutta percha and jelutong or pontianack. The largest purchase we have ever made of the latter was in 1913, when we bought over 45,000,000 pounds. Both are used for cable insulation, while the latter is used as an adulterant of india rubber. The entire supply of both gums is practically a British monopoly, much more so than india rubber. This would not mean so much in itself, but the possession of such a monopoly tends to create another one and that is the manufacture and sale of electric cables for the transference of cablegrams. Great Britain is said to have the cable industry sewed up.

Gutta percha resembles india rubber greatly, but it is less flexible and resilient. It is treated much like rubber and it has the property of strongly resisting acids and its toughness is actually increased by immersion in salt water, hence its desirability in cable manufacture. It is also used largely in chemical works, and the best golf balls are made of this substance.

Our main sources of supply are the Straits Settlements, and lately considerable has been coming from the Dutch East Indies. The production of the two gums is jealously fostered, and yet both will flourish in the Latin Americas. Jelutong in small amounts is being produced in Brazil and Colombia, and percha in Panama, Mexico and Brazil. Production could be increased and a profitable business established if some one would go after it.

Great Britain sent a man years ago to Peru to smuggle some cinchona trees (quinine) out of the country. There was a death penalty for such action imposed by Peru, but the agent got away with some cuttings, after some lurid adventures, and now the chief source of quinine is to be found in the British East Indies. We don't have to sneak gutta percha stock out of British possessions. Some is already available. But it would be well to encourage its production in our neighborhood instead of sending to the other side of the world for it and getting it under such conditions as the English may impose.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Detroit Free Press: "One of the handicaps under which this country struggles is the prevalent pride of half-baked opinion among us who make up its people. There is a deplorably current impression abroad that the possession and exploitation of opinion on every subject under the sun is an inalienable right of American comparable to the rights guaranteed under the constitution and must be exercised on all occasion. Except in a strictly legal sense, this impression is sadly erroneous. What's more, it frequently produces disastrous results."

Portland Oregonian: "Insinuation that selfish motives led Henry Ford to indorse President Coolidge for election next year was to be expected from those who extolled Mr. Ford as the noblest and most unselfish of men so long as they believed him to be of one mind with them in politics. Now that he has disappointed them, his action is connected by them with the prospective reduction of his income tax by the Mellon plan and he is said by one Democratic paper of Oregon to be in 'complete agreement with big business and Wall street.'"

Kansas City Star: "To date, Babe Ruth is the only member of the Yanks the champion club owners have under contract for 1924. Although many will argue otherwise, our advice to the owners is to sign up a few more players. Those who insist that the Babe can win a pennant all by himself may be right, but Babe might get sick."

Deseret News: "Automobiles are regarded as among the greatest conveniences of modern civilization. It is difficult to see how the world could get along now without them. They contribute much to the social pleasures and business necessities of life. But they also have become great utilities in the commission of crime. One reads almost every day how bandits in automobiles approach banks and other places where money is kept, flash guns—sometimes kill—and rush away with their loot. These audacious crimes would be almost inconceivable without the aid of the automobile."

Chicago Tribune: "Tax radicals in Congress seem to have pased on beyond any idea that taxes are primarily to support government and that wasteful government is essentially obnoxious. Public money is for public defense, public works and necessary government operation. A nation's money is properly used in production. It is not properly used in the extravagances of a grand monarch or of bureaucracy."

Omaha World-Herald: "There is a strong popular conception that modern colleges are developing ungodly men; that innocent Christian youths after a four-year course, including possibly, biology, geology, astronomy and philosophy, are graduated with the spirit as much as if to say, 'If there is a God prove it to me.'"

Medford Mail Tribune: "The rumpus in the churches, now raging, is called a 'schism.' Schism is a dignified name for a fuss. The schism seems to be caused by arguments arising from the proposition: Salvation is free, if you believe like me, otherwise you can go to hell."

Detroit Free Press: "Probably Cleveland will claim that Ohio earned a right to the Republican convention next year by refraining from putting a presidential candidate in the field."

With the opening of the Californian hotel tomorrow night (December 29) Fresno takes another step forward in material advancement. Little over half a century ago the site of the present city of Fresno was a desert plain. JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

"IF I WERE BILL."

"If I were bill," said he to me,
"I think I'd do more good than he.
If I had all he has to give,
I think a kinder life I'd live;
I'd help a lot of folks I know
If I were Bill and he were Joe.

"If I were Jim, I'd be a Jim
In every way excelling him.
I'd do the things he fails to do,
And cure the faults men plainly view;
I'd lift full many a weight of woe,
If I were Jim and he were Joe.

"If I were George, I swear I'd be
A finer sort of George than he.
For needy men to help I'd search,
I'd lift the mortgage on the church;
But things have not been ordered so,
For he is George and I am Joe."

"If I were you," said I, "I'd see
How good a Joseph I could be.
I fancy Bill and George and Jim
Are doing well enough for Him
Who sent us all to serve below—
Perhaps he'd like a better Joe.

"It's wasting time to lie awake,
Thinking how good a Jim you'd make.
Perhaps you'd make a better Bill,
Or else a better George, but still,
Your chance for glory is to see
How good a Joseph you can be."

Be Truly Friendly.

Instead of trying merely to appear friendly to that certain person, why are you not honestly friendly?

Real friendship brings true pleasure and a front of friendliness to cover a mask of criticism or some other quality, or for the purpose of furthering your own ends, is too easily penetrated to be of much use.

Are you not tired of the "make-believes" that you like this one and that whom you have never really tried to like?

At times you think you have many friends.

Certainly many persons appear friendly to you.

Take it home to yourself.

How many of your acquaintances would you dare to depend upon in case you needed a real friend?

With how many persons are you on an honestly friendly basis?

If you are the sort that merely appear friendly do not expect to find the genuine honest-to-goodness loyalty which you so constantly withhold when it comes to those with whom you must associate.

Why not look at your acquaintances with the attitude of a person who is sincerely glad to be of service and willing to give friendship if agreeable.—Houston Chronicle.

To Keep the Cook.

Promptly as the office clock struck five Blinks with unusual rapidity prepared to start home.

As he hustled into his overcoat and made for the door his desk mate raised a surprised head. "What!" he said, "in a hurry again tonight? It's six evenings now you've rushed home like this and haven't waited for me for a soda at the old stand. I'm beginning to think I've offended you, or something like that."

"No," Blinks laughed. "You haven't hurt my sensitive soul, but the fact is this, we've got a cook up at the house now, and while the missus didn't mind my rolling in late the cook won't stay unless I arrive every evening on time."—New York Sun.

She Knew It.

William—Are you sure your wife knows I'm going home to dinner with you?

Johnson—Knows! I should say so! Why, dear man, I argued with her about it this morning for half an hour!—Los Angeles Express.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.,
Noted Physician and Author.

MILK AND WATER.

Sacramento, Cal., was pioneer in regulating the consumption of milk in original containers in lunch rooms, restaurants and other places where milk is served; since such an ordinance was adopted in Sacramento the consumption of milk has increased from 12 to 23 per cent. Milk is sold in original bottles of one-half pint at from 5 to 10 cents. Restaurant people, who feared the ordinance would reduce the demand for milk and boost the price, now maintain that they handle milk with less trouble in this way.

Chicago has recently adopted a rule requiring that milk be served to patrons in individual containers. Los Angeles follows a similar rule, the health authorities reporting that a state law requires that all milk served in restaurants, etc., must be in the original bottle and opened in the presence of consumer.

Detroit allows the sale of dipped milk in restaurants and hotels, but the health authorities believe that "the bottling of milk, if you really take the consumer into consideration, is the only means we have of assuring them a wholesome product."

In Baltimore all liquid milk must be served in the original bottle, the restaurateur being permitted to loosen the cap of the bottle only in the presence of the consumer. The Baltimore health authorities strictly prohibit the sale of bulk milk from cans or urns.

New York permits the sale of dipped milk; about 50 per cent of all milk sold in New York is dipped milk. The New York health authorities say they would like to have nothing but bottled milk sold in the city, but they fear such a rule would decrease the consumption of milk or deprive many poor people of it. Their notion about that is well answered by the experience of Sacramento.

Boston is, of course, even more "conservative" than New York. The Boston health authorities report that "milk is sold in some of our first-class restaurants by the bottle."

Buffalo has no law or ordinance.

Philadelphia lets' em use pumps in restaurants.

Cleveland has a strict ordinance in its sanitary code, requiring individual bottles; these must be capped by a mechanical device, not by hand.

Milwaukee reports that 60 per cent of the milk sold by restaurants is served in the original half pint bottles. The managers of the restaurants now declare they would not go back to the old milk can system.

HER SOFT ANSWER.

She had told the district charity visitor a long story of her troubles and trials; no money, many mouths to feed, an idle, dissolute husband. She was very emphatic about the husband, who "knocked her about if she said a word."

"I am very sorry for you," said the visitor, "but always remember to return good for evil. Remember that a soft answer turneth away wrath. Meet his violence with gentleness, and in that way you will be heaping coals of fire on his head. Have you tried that?"

"Well, mum, not exactly," said the poor woman "but I've 'it 'im on the head with a saucepan of boiling water."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Discouraging Prospect.

The motorist was on unfamiliar ground, and directly before him was a fork in the road with no sign post to tell him which way to go.

"Which way to Stumpville?" he asked of a dejected-looking man who roosted on a fence near at hand.

"Thanks," said the motorist. "How far is it?"

"'Tain't so very far," was the drawling reply.

"When you get there, you'll wish it was a durn sight farther."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Silent Partner.

Two men, who were "something in the city," were lunching at their club one day. "Oh," said one, "my partner formerly used always to oppose my views, but now he agrees with me in everything."

"How do you account for it?" asked the other.

"Don't know," said the first. "I'm not sure whether I convince him, or only make him tired."—Tatler, London.

REFERENDUM ON NORMAND BAN PLANNED

Berkeley Better Films Committee to Get Consensus of Opinion of Civic Bodies on Allowing the Pictures

BERKELEY, Jan. 5.—A "referendum" will be inaugurated in Berkeley to ascertain the fate of Mabel Normand as a screen celebrity as far as the people of the college city are concerned.

Call for a special meeting of the executive board of the Berkeley Better Films committee was issued today by Mrs. John F. Johnston, head of that body. The board will meet on Tuesday at Mrs. Johnston's residence to prepare a formal "referendum" proposal to be submitted to all clubs and civic organizations represented in the films committee. A special meeting may then be called to consider the verdicts of the different organizations.

AVERSE TO SNAP JUDGMENT.

"We do not propose to take snap judgment on this matter," declared Mrs. Johnston today. "No matter what our personal opinions are, as an organization we cannot afford to plunge into this thing without considering all angles of the case. We feel that some protection should be given the producer when anyone of his stars might meet with popular disfavor. It is our plan to obtain a popular consensus of public opinion before going on record so that we may feel that we are voicing the sentiments of the entire city when we do issue a statement.

Delegates from the various local bodies represented in the films committee will be instructed by the executive board to secure recommendations which they will be asked to present at the next meeting of the general organization. The Berkeley Better Films committee is comprised of delegates from more than 30 organizations in Berkeley, including mothers' clubs and other bodies.

VIGILANTES TO ACT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The woman's vigilant committee, composed of San Francisco club women, next Thursday will consider a recommendation to local motion picture houses that films in which Mabel Normand appears be barred from exhibition here.

The action is contemplated, according to Mrs. George Harris, leading club woman, because of the notoriety achieved by Miss Normand as the result of the shooting of Courtland S. Dines in Hollywood.

Berkeley Teacher Of French Is Dead

BERKELEY, Jan 5.—Funeral services were conducted today at St. Joseph's church for Emile Chevalier, well known teacher of French, formerly affiliated with the summer session of the University of California. Chevalier's death occurred at his home 1526 Edith street, following an attack of heart trouble. He was 60 years old and was born in France. He came to Berkeley four years ago. Surviving him are a widow, Mrs Theresa Chevalier, and a daughter, Ragnhild, a teacher at Fort Bragg.

Betrayed by a Check

Berkeley Girl's Elopement With Sausalito Man Bared

BERKELEY, Jan. 5.—A canceled check which slipped from her pocket and was recovered by her mother changed the name and station in life on Christmas eve of Gwendolyn Barnes, 17, student at a secretarial school in San Francisco and a graduate of Berkeley high school. The check bore the signature of Mrs. Laurence C. Browne.

Mrs. L. B. Barnes, 2121 Emerson street, scrutinized the check and glanced toward Laurence C. Browne, publisher of the Sausalito News and ostensibly a bachelor, who was a visitor at her house. Then she glanced at her daughter and the mystery suddenly became clear.

The couple then confessed that they had eloped and were secretly married at Santa Rosa on August 10, while the girl's parents were attending the Harding memorial services.

Mrs Browne said today that she and her husband had never seen Browne until her daughter had married him. However, the couple have received the blessing of Mr. and Mrs Barnes and have established their home at Sausalito.

Browne, who is 26, is a well-known violinist and is prominent in music and social circles of Marin county. He also is one of the directors and largest stockholders in Boyes Hot Springs.

Mrs. Browne was a popular member of the younger set in Berkeley and was planning to enter the University of California this semester.

Advice on Income Tax Problems

While the exemptions for married persons are $2500 if their net income was $5000 or less or $2000 if the net income was in excess of $5000, there is inserted in the revenue act a qualifying clause in justice to those persons whose net income just exceeded $5000. The act provides that the reduction of the amount of the exemption shall not increase by more than the amount of net income in excess of $5000 the tax which would be payable had the exemption been $2500. For example, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe had a net income for 1923 of $5010. Without the benefit of the above provision the normal tax would be $120.40 ($5010 less $2000 equaling $3010 at 4 per cent). Their actual tax is $110.40 ($5010 less $2500 equaling 2510 at 4 per cent, or $100.40, plus $10, the amount by which the net income exceeds $5000). This provision has no application where the combined net income is $5020 or more.

Exemptions of $2000 or $2500 are allowed married couples only if they live together. In the absence of continuous residence together, the exemption depends upon the character of the separation. The presence of a wife in a sanitarium or her unavoidable absence because of illness does not change the marital status, and the tax exemption is allowed the husband. If, as ordinarily, the husband is away on business or for any necessary reason a temporary separation exists, the full exemption is allowed. But if, for instance, the husband and wife separate and the husband makes his residence at one place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the eye of the income tax law.

BOY SCIENTIST AND TOY BOMB STIR BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Jan 5.—Youthful experiments with chemicals were found responsible today for the explosion at 6 o'clock last night of a "bomb" in front of the home of W. C. Mackinnon, 1018 Oxford street.

As the Mackinnons were sitting in their home, they were startled by the sound of crashing glass while a heavy object came hurling through the window, narrowly missing members of the family. Residents in the entire neighborhood were aroused by the explosion.

The police were called and an investigation revealed the "bomb" to be the work of an [illegible] "scientist" and his companions who were experimenting with chemicals.

INSTITUTIONS GIVEN CHEST AID VISITED

Representatives of Women's Clubs, Other Organizations Inspect Salvation, Rescue Homes, Finch Orphanage

The largest "See for Yourself" tour of the Oakland Community Chest so far was taken yesterday, when 160 representatives of the woman's clubs and others organizations in a procession of 40 machines visited the Salvation Army Home, the Pacific Coast Rescue Home, and the Fred Finch Orphanage.

Practically all of those who made the trip had never before visited these institutions, according to Homer Bemiss, chairman in charge of the tour, and they expressed surprise at the thorough and constructive type of work accomplished in each home.

Miss Beatrice Prosser, matron, received the visitors at the Pacific Coast Rescue Home, showed them through the building and told them of the work done there. When the alterations under way are completed the capacity of the home will be 35 girls and 16 babies.

At the Salvation Army Home, Mis Nora Hudspeth, matron, conducted the visitors through the nursery and dormitories where 63 girls and 32 babies are cared for. The home is a haven for the deserted or unwed mother, and the girls there are given care they need and are prepared to earn their own living after they leav th home.

On hundred little boys and girls are cared for at the Fred Finch Orphanage, of which J. W. Hagen is superintendent. The visitors watched the children as they assembled for their evening meal in groups at small tables, each presided over by a child who acted as host.

All of these homes are maintained by funds from the Oakland Community Chest, which will begin the second annual campaign January 29.

SHIPPERS TO FIGHT RATE RAISE PLAN

Proposal of Certain Steamer Companies for Higher Rate to Oakland Than S. F. Stirs Strong Protest

Eastbay shippers, representing a majority of the largest manufacturing and mercantile establishments on this side of the bay organized today to fight a proposal on the part of certain coastal steamship companies which would make the rate to Oakland higher than to San Francisco.

For many years the same rate has prevailed for both communities. It was only in recent weeks that certain of the companies announced their intention of raising the rate for shipments originating on or coming to the Oakland side of the bay. The shippers are determined that this change in rates shall not be put into effect.

The attitude of the shippers was placed in resolution form subscribed to by all present. This resolution is as follows:

"WHEREAS it is understood that certain steamship companies operating in coastal traffic, contemplate increasing their class and commodity rates and,

"WHEREAS it is further understood that the same steamship companies contemplate creating a differential in freight rates against Oakland as compared to San Francisco, be it

"RESOLVED, that it is the sense of this meeting that the Traffic Department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce be empowered to take such action as it deems necessary to prevent said steamship companies from putting into effect any rates that will create a differential between Oakland and San Francisco, unfavorable to Oakland, and by filing of complaints with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Railroad Commission of California and other governing bodies, and by interesting other steamship lines in the Eastbay traffic; and be it further

"RESOLVED that the interested shippers located in the Eastbay cities do hereby pledge their support to the extent that, if such drastic action is necessary, the routing of their coastal tonnage will be made via such steamship line or lines as are recommended by the traffic department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce."

The meeting was presided over by H. W. Force, chairman of the traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the California Culvert company. The Chamber of Commerce was represented at the meeting by G. A. Bahler, manager of the traffic department and W. L. Miller, managing director of the Chamber, and members of the traffic committee.

Referendum Is Proposed On Redwood Park Site

An initiative proposition is to be submitted to the citizens of Oakland to settle the question of the fate of the proposed park site on Redwood Peak. Announcement to that effect was made today by Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee, chairman of the "Save the Sequoias" committee.

Plans have been worked out for the calling of a mass meeting to be held Saturday afternoon in the Merchants' Exchange at 3 o'clock, according to Dr Coffee. Representatives of the business men's clubs and other organizations of Oakland are invited to attend this community council. The initiative campaign will be outlined at this meeting.

In connection with the calling of the mass meeting, Rabbi Coffee said:

"We have reason to believe that the city administration is determined to ignore the protests of practically every group of our citizens, and sanction the subdivision scheme which our committee has consistently opposed.

"While we will be glad to stand corrected in this premise, if eleventh hour action should come as an unexpected surprise, the only course open to us seems to be to invoke the initiative. Nearly two-thirds of our voters went on record in favor of a far greater park system at the bond election of August 29, 1922. If a more emphatic mandate is necessary, we will make the message of the masses of our citizens more plain."

Amundsen Denies His Polar Hop Is Land-Grab Plot

COPENHAGEN, Jan 5.—Captain Roald Amundsen the noted explorer, who is engaged in planning details of his projected airplane flight across the North Pole, was guest of honor at a luncheon at the American club today presided over by John D. Prince, the United States minister.

Captain Amundsen said the flight was in no sense to be classed as an attempt to "discover" the North Pole as he fully acknowledged Peary's discovery.

The great problem confronting him, Captain Amundsen said, was to get the right sort of flying machine, capable of landing on both ice and water, but without too great weight, so as not to reduce the carrying capacity of the plane unduly. Tests are being made with various machines fitted with both pontoons and skis. He said he calculated upon being in the air fully twenty hours, landing on the northern Alaskan coast.

DUCKS KNOW WHEN FEED TIME COMES

Quackers on Lake Merritt Can't See Clock, But They Are Always on Hand at 10; Puzzles Kerfoot

A study of psychology, ornithology and duckology is now being conducted by Superintendent Lee Kerfoot of the park department, to ascertain just why the ducks of Lake Merritt are able to ascertain exactly when 10 o'clock comes every morning.

Ten o'clock is feeding time. But the city hall clock is far out of sight, and there are no other clocks in view; yet at exactly 9:55 every duck on Lake Merritt starts talking and they all begin to swim and promenade toward the feeding grounds, arriving at exactly 10 o'clock. Not one minute before or after.

"How do they do it?" asks Kerfoot. "We can understand boarders rushing for the dinner table when the bell rings, but we have no bell on Lake Merritt. Humans cannot estimate time so closely. The only answer is that the ducks have time clocks in their brains.

"I think the time clock theory must be correct. They have nothing else in their brains, so they must have time clocks."

PRES. COOLIDGE TO START LINER OFF BY WIRELESS

President Harrison First of Around World Ships to Leave Today.

President Calvin Coolidge, from the bridge of the presidential yacht Mayflower, on the Potomac river, will press a button this afternoon which will by radio send the Dollar steamship line steamer President Harrison on her way from San Francisco as the first ship in the new around-the-world service of the Dollar lines.

The departure of the President Harrison at 5 o'clock this evening is creating considerable interest among shipping men on both coasts of the United States, for this will be the first time in the history of navigation that a regular around-the-world passenger service has ever been attempted by any line. Sailings will be maintained from the Golden Gate every two weeks.

The service will be conducted with a fleet of seven ships, all sisters, which Captain Robert Dollar recently purchased from the United States Shipping Board. These are the President Harrison, President Van Buren, President Garfield, President Monroe, President Adams, President Hayes and President Polk.

The departure of the big liner from Pier 22 this afternoon will be made an auspicious occasion and the program arranged will be participated in by hundreds of persons engaged in private and public shipping lines, national, state and city officials and representatives of the various civic organizations of the bay district.

William Hamilton, collector of customs, will throw off the hawser to release the vessel for the start of her epoch making journey. John Philip Sousa has been invited to lead the band. The government will be represented by Joseph E. Sheedy, vice-president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation; Captain C. S. Bookwalter of the Washington office of the Shipping Board, and T. W. Relyea, district director of the board. Mayor James Rolph will represent San Francisco and representatives of the mayors from the other cities of the bay district will also be present.

A party of sixty businessmen from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce are making the first trip on the President Harrison for the purpose of perfecting trade relations in the twenty-two ports on the schedule of the around-the-world service. The voyage will consulme 112 days.

Captain K. A. Ahlin will be on the bridge of the liner. His under officers are: F. W. Wise, former commander of the China Mail liner China, first officer; F. C. Dodge, second officer; R. J. Melanphy, third officer; F. S. Moody, fourth officer; John Hansen, chief engineer; W. D. Schoning, first assistant; F. P. Corridan, second assistant; J. R. Durham, third assistant; Oscar Shea, fourth assistant; C. N. Ludvigsen, purser; J. W. Wainright, freight clerk; A. Hall, chief steward; J. R. O'Connor, second steward, and Dr. George D. Marvin, surgeon.

British Issue Orders Against Use of Wireless

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The British admiralty has issued an order restricting the use of radio, telegraph or telephone apparatus by foreign warships when in or near British harbors.

If the harbor is a naval one such ships must obtain permission from the naval port commander before employing any of these services.

The American sailing schooner Forest Home made port on January 5, 1918, after being given up for lost several times. She came from Australia with a cargo of wheat and was variously reported as having been lost in storm and torpedoed by German raiders. She sailed from Sydney, September 9, 1917.

Richmond Barge No. 7 of the Island Transportation company, of Stockton, sunk suddenly while lying at the Richmond wharf. As she went down she narrowly missed taking the launch Countess with her. The latter craft was saved by the crew cutting the mooring lines with hatchets. The Richmond was loaded with 500 tons of rock.

2 BATTLESHIPS TAKE LAST TRIP AS NAVAL UNITS

Nebraska and Vermont, Former Fleet Leaders, Now Nearing Scrap Pile.

An impressive funeral procession made its way down the Oakland estuary yesterday evening when the veteran sea fighter Nebraska was towed to her final berth at the Moore drydock and shipyard for complete demolition. The dirge for the old cruiser was supplied in the chorus of shrill whistles and noisy puffing of the Red Stack tugs which towed her from Mare Island navy yard to the break-up dock at Moore's.

The Nebraska, with the Vermont, which will be towed down from the island late today, was recently purchased by Learner and Rosenthal, shipbrokers and scrap metal dealers of Oakland, under the terms of the disarmament treaty between the United States, England and Japan. The Vermont was to have been towed down yesterday, but she was resting too heavily in the Vallejo mud to permit her being hauled off, and it was necessary to get a dredger at work to clear the channel for her.

TASK ENORMOUS.

The task of demolishing the two big battleships will be one of the most gigantic ever undertaken on the Pacific coast and will give work to an augmented force of men at Moore's yard for at least a year. According to Maurice Learner, who will direct the reduction process here, the work will put more than a million dollars in wages into the pockets of Oakland workingmen.

Under the terms of the treaty, the vessels must be completely demolished and cannot be sold for shipping purposes. After a close survey of the other yards of the Pacific coast and the refusal of several offers for the work from other quarters, Learner and Rosenthal selected the Moore yard in this city as the only one fully capable of handling the big contract in the required time. Practically all of the year of the yard will be employed upon the task of reducing the two warships to scrap. The most scientific methods will be used in the work.

FAMOUS SHIPS.

The Nebraska and Vermont formed units of a block of eleven older ships of the navy to be sold. The Vermont is 450 feet long, with a beam of 75 feet and a draft of 24 feet. Her displacement is 16,000 tons, and with the Nebraska she will be the largest craft ever to enter the estuary. The cruiser was lanched at Qincy, Massachusetts, Agst 31, 19u05. She took part in the around-the-world cruise of the Navy in 1908, and was present at Vera Cruz when American sailors captured that city from the Mexicans in 1914. In the recent war she was engaged in carrying troops from Europe.

The Nebraska draws 24 feet of water, and has a displacement of 14,948 tons. She is 435 feet long. During the war she served as a training ship, and at its conclusion brought back 4530 soldiers from the other side. She also participated in the around-the-world cruise of the American fleet in 1908.

In addition to the Nebraska and Vermont, the Oakland men also have the contract to dismember the hll ofu the Montana, which is on the stocks at the Mare Island navy yard and which was twenty per cent completed when the work was ordered stopped and the hull sold. This work is being directed by William Rosenthal. The scrap metal will all be barged from Vallejo to Oakland and then distributed eastward from here.

Ship Takes Long Time Making Port

A 1500 mile tow from Key West has terminated at Boston, when the five-masted schooner Marie de Ronda, Capt. Haskell, reached port considerably worse for wear on account of a hurricane that dated back to early November, or shortly after she sailed from Port Tampa.

The schooner was laden with railroad ties which may have lent hed added buoyancy when a leak developed after numerous deck fittings had been washed away. She limped to an anchorage off Tortugas and tug Warbler conveyed her to Key West, where temporary repairs were effected. The underwriters then arranged to have the vessel towed to Boston and tug Richmond was chartered for that purpose.

Coos Bay Sends Out Big Amount Lumber

Two Cunard Ships To Be Oil Burners

The Cunarders Caronia and Carmania, two of the steadiest ships in the company's Atlantic service, are to be converted to burn oil fuel, according to an announcement by the Cunard line. This will leave but one coal-burning ship in the Cunard's fleet. The Aquitania was the first ship of the line to burn oil fuel, being reconditioned three and a half years ago. She was soon followed by the Berengaria and Mauretania. The new Cunarders, the Scythia, Laconia, Samaria, Franconia and Albania, were all designed and built to burn oil fuel.

JAPANESE LINE DECLARES 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Nippon Yusen Kaisha Has Meeting and Elects New Directors.

At the general meeting just held in Tokyo, Nippon Yusen Kaisha declared a 10 per cent dividend, reports the New York Journal of Commerce, and reelected as directors Messrs Y. Ito, A. Ishii, M. Yasueda and at the same time elected four new directors, viz., S. Kurokawa, T. Tominaga, R. Takeda and N. Ohtani.

The president in recommending the adoption of the report said that the shipping trade during the term under review continued to be in a sadly depressed condition, the company's operation accordingly showing a regrettably unsatisfactory result. The net profit was only 1,110,000 the previous term, and 2,790,000 yen for the corresponding term of last year. In order to enable the company to declare a dividend of 10 per cent per annum the reserve fund for the equalization of dividend has again had to be drawn on to the extent of 2,000,000 yen.

Touching the great earthquake catastrophe, which befell the eastern part of Japan on September 1, the president paid a high tribute to the efficiency with which the company's staff coped with the situation and said the company did its "bit" in the important relief work by transporting free of charge more than 25,000 refugees of various nationalities and no less than 45,000 tons of foodstuffs, etc.

The president regretted that there was yet no visible sign of improvement in the shipping trade. Although the near seas traffic showed some activity for local reasons, the world's shipping business as a whole betrayed an even worse tendency than ever. This state of things, the president remarked, was naturally due to the general and well nigh unparalleled economic unrest of Europe, and pending the recovery of normal conditions nothing like a profitable operation in shipping business could be expected.

"As far as Japan is concerned," the president added, "although on the one hand, the importation of materials for reconstruction is creating a temporary activity, in view of the certain decrease in exports and the dwindling of the purchasing power as a consequence of the national calamity, perhaps the greatest yet recorded in the history of Japan, we have to be prepared for a store of further difficulties in conducting the company's business. To meet the situation the company is making every effort to enforce retrenchment, and a step toward that end the executive organization of the head office was recently remodeled and a substantial reduction effected in the monthly allowances of the staff and in their retirement allowances."

MERGER OF TWO S. F. EXCHANGES CLOSE AT HAND

Reports Made That Details of Combination Have Been Practically Settled.

Consolidation of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange and the San Francisco Stock Exchange is believed to be close at hand, after several months of negotiating. There are reports in San Francisco that the two bodies will be formally merged the coming week under the tile of the San Francisco Stock Exchange. Meetings were held yesterday of the governing boards of both bodies, but the final details were still up in the air.

If the plan goes through the recently erected building of the existing San Francisco Stock Exchange will become the home of the consolidated organization.

The price of seats will be based upon the prevailing rate in the existing San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange, which will mean a price between $16,000 and $17,000.

Members of the existing San Francisco Stock Exchange will in the merger be credited with the price of their seats upon their own exchange, plus certain allowances for the assets of good will and similar considerations.

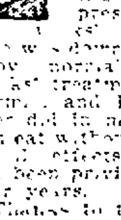
7D HERBALISTS

High Blood Pressure Relieved



Stockton, Cal., May 19, 1923.

Gentlemen: I suffered with high blood pressure and heart trouble for [illegible] four years. This spring I became so bad that I did not think I would live until summer. I went to several doctors and they told me they could do nothing for me. My blood pressure was 262. After [illegible] treatment the pressure was down to 1[illegible], just slightly above normal. Today after 10 weeks treatment the pressure is normal and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I can walk and eat without feeling the slightest ill effects, something I have not been privileged to do for over four years.

Thanks to the Chinese herbs, I did not have to go to bed, and I feel that I am entirely recovered.
Yours truly, IDA M. RICE,

The Oakland Tribune is a member of The Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Oakland Tribune as well as every other member of the association, endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads, and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s"; "Board" is No. 25, and always follows Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

PLANTED FIG GARDENS

NO PAYMENT
DOWN.

I, J. C. Forkner, president of the J. C. Forkner Fig Gardens Inc., hereby offer 100 families a most remarkable proposition.

I have planted and sold 10,000 acres of fig gardens; I have spent $6,000,000 during the last ten years developing these fig gardens; there are 100 happy families living on these home acres now; I want 100 more families.

I have decided to sell 1000 acres of planted fig gardens just coming into bearing on the following conditions:

You move upon five or ten acres of my fig gardens, just coming into bearing, adjoining the city of Fresno, and build a home and farm the land; I will give you ten years in which to pay.

The Crops Will Pay for the Land

Roads, ditches, highways, electric lines are built; townsite on land being developed; best water right in State; canning factory already built, church, schools and $5,000,000 lumber mill, employing 1000 men, on tract; only 15 minutes from center of Fresno.

I live on the land and have developed these fig gardens myself; any man who moves upon these fig gardens cannot fail, for I will help him to success.

For details see my personal representative MR. FRED W. GREGORY, suite 706 Hearst bldg., San Francisco; phone Sutter 1311.

If you cannot personally call, write for details.

Women's Clubs Interested in Legislation

By EDNA B. KINARD.

The six legislative measures in which the General Federation of Women's Clubs is taking an interest during the present session of Congress will be reviewed by Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, chairman of the joint women's legislative committee of California and chairman of legislation, California Federation of Women's clubs, on Wednesday before the Oakland club. The general federation is favoring the child labor law, a uniform marriage and divorce amendment, the creation of a United States department of education with a secretary in the President's cabinet; establishment of a federal prison for women in Virginia, and a modified immigration bill. The general federation is opposing the Snyder bill, considered the successor of the Bursom bill, relating to Indian lands. Probably no stand will be taken on the proposed blanket amendment to the constitution of the United States, sponsored by the Woman's party. Mrs. Schloss will review these measures and their significance if adopted.

Mrs. A. B. Armstrong of Berkeley, chairman of legislation, under Alameda district, C. F. W. C., and Mrs. Albert E. Carter, chairman of legislation under the Alameda County Federation of Women's clubs, will extend greetings to the Oakland club members and outline the program of activities which they have undertaken through their departments.

"The Importance of Legislation in Progressive Policy," is the subject for the address which will be made by A. R. Harron.

Miss Mildred Warenskyve, assisted at the piano by Miss Sue Hill, will render a group of songs.

The program has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Frank G. Law, chairman of legislation under the Oakland club.

Twenty-five hundred dollars will be asked of Alameda district, C. F. W. C., covering Alameda, Contra Costa, San Joaquin, Tuolumne and Calaveras counties, toward the entertainment of the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in California next June. Although Los Angeles will be the convention city, the entire state will extend its hospitality to the hundreds of women who will come to the Pacific coast next summer in the interests of the important ten-day conference.

Mrs. Elon L. Warner, president of Alameda district, who has a place on the local biennial board responsible for entertaining the notable convention, is now perfecting plans for a drive directed toward discharging the financial obligation imposed upon the clubs under her jurisdiction.

Announcement is made that the women of twenty-two nations will be represented in the convention body. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of Pasadena, chairman of program, has extended invitations to a long list of countries making the delegates special guests of honor.

A piano section is being organized in the Twentieth Century club as a part of those interesting activities carried on under the direction of the united arts department. Perhaps this is the first federated club about the bay develop its program of music to include a group whose interests are centered in the piano. Mrs. L. W. Jefferson is registering the members who are interested in this particular study.

The public speaking and book review section will launch a new course of study on Thursday next under the leadership of Miss Jean Campbell Macmillan. The clubwomen are sharing this study group with their friends, membership in the general body not being requisite to enrolling in the section. Mrs. Andrew H. Irving is chairman, with Mrs. Mathew Morton serving as secretary.
